Mitchell, Stans Are Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans and two corporate officials were indicted today on charges of conspiring to arrange a secret $200,000 contribution to the Nixon re-election campaign last year.

The other named as defendants in the 16-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury were a New Jersey Republican leader, Harry L. Sears, and Robert L. Vesco, 37, former board chairman of International Controls Corp. Vesco made the donation, which was later returned by the Nixon campaign.

Mitchell was the director of the Committee to Re-Elect the President until last July. Stans was President Nixon's chief fund raiser.

A federal grand jury empaneled two months ago questioned both Mitchell and Stans in an investigation of whether the unreported cash gift from Vesco was related to the SEC investigation.

The SEC probe resulted in the filing of a civil suit charging that Vesco, 20 other persons and 20 corporations diverted $224 million in cash and securities from mutual funds they controlled.

Vesco, 37, has a home in Boonton, N.J. but is believed to be residing in the Bahamas or Costa Rica. A warrant for his arrest has been issued.

The $200,000 donation was received by the Nixon campaign finance committee in Washington April 10, three days after the 1972 campaign contribution disclosure law took effect. Another $50,000 gift from Vesco was made public.

All $250,000 was returned to Vesco last January, two months after the SEC suit was filed. On May 2, the Justice Department charged the committee with failing to report the contribution.

Disclosure of the cash contribution came to light in a disposition by Harry L. Sears, a former Republican leader of the New Jersey Senate, who said he asked Mitchell to help arrange a meeting with William J. Casey, then chairman of the SEC.

In May, Casey and G. Bradford Cook, then chief counsel of the SEC and now its chairman, met with Sears to discuss the SEC investigation. Cook testified before the grand jury last month, sources said.

Pentagon Papers judge to rule on defense motion for dismissal based on Watergate and White House involvements in the case. Story on page 7.

It was also believed that President Nixon's brother Edward appeared before the grand jury in connection with the donation.

Vesco had been subpoenaed before the grand jury but had failed to appear. His lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, said a week ago that his client would not appear unless he was granted immunity.

The grand jury has been working against a Friday deadline — the date previously set by U.S. Atty. Whitney North Seymour Jr. for his departure to private practice.

In the SEC case, the first half of a preliminary suit seeking to freeze Vesco's assets until the full case comes to trial was completed last Tuesday. The defense was scheduled to open its case today.

The SEC alleges that Vesco directed the looting of $224 million from four foriegn mutual funds controlled by Investors Overseas Services Ltd., which Vesco interests purchased from Bernard Cornfeld in Switzerland in 1971.

On Tuesday, U.S. District Court Judge Charles E. Stewart signed an order delaying reported plans by a Canadian associate and co-defendant with Vesco to transfer $3.67 million from a Hialeah, Fla., bank to the Bahamas Commonwealth Bank in Nassau.

Meanwhile, in a personal bid to keep wavering Republicans in line, President Nixon has promised to get to the bottom of the Watergate scandal and continue fighting for his second-term programs.

"I didn't get where I am by ducking tough issues," Nixon told a crowd which paid $1,000 a plate for filet mignon and the President's most spirited defense yet of his embattled administration.

However, planners of the fund-raising affair conceded the proceeds and attendance were far below par and blamed the widening scandal for cooling off donors who chipped in record campaign chests last year.

Nixon warmly praised those who did turn out Wednesday night, and said he and the GOP are still winners.

"This nation, Republicans, Democrats, independents, all Americans, can have confidence in the fact that the new nominee for attorney general, Elliot Richardson, and the special prosecutor he will appoint will have total cooperation from the executive and will get to the bottom of it (the Watergate case) and see to it that all of those who are guilty will be prosecuted and brought to justice," Nixon said.

"We are not going to allow this deplorable incident to deter or detract us from going ahead and achieving the great goals the overwhelming number of Americans elected us to achieve in 1972," he said.

The dinner, which raised money for next year's Republican congressional campaigns, had been expected to bring in $2 million, but the official estimate was that it would "barely scrape by $1 million."

However, committee officials confided privately that the paying attendance might have produced no more than $750,000 to $600,000 gross and as little as $600,000 campaign cash.

This would compare to the $1.3 million minimum raised at past off-year events, and the $6 million raised in one night last fall when Nixon addressed a multicity hookup of dinners by closed-circuit television.

On another front, Senate and federal investigators say they believe John W. Dean III has no evidence to link President Nixon either to prior knowledge of the Watergate bugging or to any subsequent coverup, The New York Times reported today.

The newspaper quoted unnamed sources as saying the assessment was based on extended interviews with Dean, the former White House counsel, as he sought to bargain for immunity from prosecution.

Because of the limited scope of Dean's testimony, Justice Department prosecutors are angry with the Select Senate Committee on Presidential Campaign Activites for its decision to seek immunity for Dean before the committee starts public hearings, May 17, the Times said.

Dean has not appeared before a grand jury investigating the Watergate case.

Sources cited by The Times said both the Senate and federal investigators had concluded that Dean was capable of implicating only H.R. Haldeman, the former White House chief of staff, and John D. Ehrlichman, the President's former advisor for domestic affairs.

Richardson at Odds Over Prosecutor

★ ★ ★

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elli[ot] L. Richardson's first day of [con]firmation hearings began [with] his assertion that as [Att]orney general he [must] have ultimate authorit[y] over a special Watergate [pro]secutor. It ended with Richardson telling how he urged a White House aide to disclose what he knew about the theft of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatric files.

The Senate Judiciary Committee scheduled its second day of hearings today, but its approval and Senate confirmation of Richardson appeared several days off at least.

Meanwhile, James R. Schlesinger has been chosen by President Nixon to be new defense secretary and will be succeeded as head of the Central Intelligence Agency by William Colby, now deputy director, it was learned today.

Schlesinger was tabbed by Nixon, in the continuing top-level administration shuffle, to take the place of Richardson at the Pentagon.

President Nixon turned to Schlesinger, one of the interchangeable men in his administration, after David Packard, a California electronics millionaire, turned down the job to protect his business interests.

Schlesinger, who has been CIA director only about four months, previously served as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commision and as a high official of the Office of Management and Budget.

It was not certain whether Richardson would be confirmed until he names the special prosecutor—and less certain that he would be confirmed unless specific guidelines are spelled out on how much authority Richardson will delegate to the prosecutor.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., questioned Richardson closely at the end of the first day of hearings Wednesday on Richardson's talk with Egil "Bud" Krogh, who resigned as transportation undersecretary earlier in the day.

Richardson, speaking slowly, said he advised Krogh it would be "in the public interest" for him to reveal to the judge in the Ellsberg case all he knew about the 1971 break in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

"He certainly had from some White House source a feeling that disclosure would be inconsistent with the ground rules then in effect," Richardson said of Krogh.

Richardson denied a Washington Post story that President Nixon initially attempted to keep the Justice Department from providing information about the break in to U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne Jr., who is presiding over Ellsberg's trial.

He said that in his only communication with Nixon on the subject, on April 25, the President "directed disclsoure . . . there was never any suggestion that came to me that disclosure not be made."

Richardson testified "I don't recall asking" Krogh who the White House source was.

"I know he believed there were constraints applicable to the 'plumbing operation' including this break-in. I know he believed there were genuine security implications," Richardson said of Krogh.

Richardson said that Krogh came to him apparently because Nixon had just appointed him attorney general with "full responsibility" for the Watergate case. Richardson said he previously had had only a few dealings with Krogh.

A few days after their talk, Krogh submitted an affidavit to the judge in which he said that after the publications of the Pentagon papers about U.S. Vietnam policy, he was put in charge of a task force—the so-called "plumbing operation" — to look for news leaks.

Krogh also assumed responsibility for authorizing the break-in at the psychiatrist's office. He has said since then that at the time there seemed to be compelling reasons to do so.

Foster Child Bill Awaits Signing

ALBANY — A bill which could mean a savings of from $85,000 to $100,000 in money spent on educating foster children in the Ellenville Central School District passed the State Legislature Wednesday and needs only the signature of Governor Rockefeller to become law.

While the bill is designed to save money for the districts to which the foster children are sent, it will cost the districts from which the children originate. According to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock), who sponsored the bill in the Assembly—State Senator Jay P. Rolison (R-Poughkeepsie), sponsored it in the Senate—the new law could cost New York City schools as much as $20 million a year.

While the bill only requires the governor's signature to become law, getting that signature has proven impossible the last two years. This is the fourth such bill Bell has introduced. The first bill, in 1970, passed the Assembly, but not the Senate. The 1971 and 1972 Bell bills passed both houses, but were vetoed by Rockefeller.

After Rockefeller's 1972 veto, he charged a select committee of Budget Director Richard Dunham, Commissioner of Education Ewald B. Nyquist, and Commissioner of Social Services Abe Levine with the formulation of legislation that the governor would accept. Bell's latest bill was largely the product of that select committee.

The Ellenville Central School district has been trying for years to have either the home school district, or the home county department of social services pay for the education of foster children sent into the Ellenville district. Among the tactics used have been demands for tuition payments, threatened lockout of foster children who have not had their tuition paid, and unsuccessful action before Nyquist's office.

The Ellenville district now has over 90 foster children in the district, and the rule of thumb in the district is that it costs the district about $1,000 a year to educate a student. It has also been pointed out that some of the foster children, coming from broken homes, have additional, and sometimes expensive, educational problems.

Most of the Ellenville foster children come from Westchester County, New York City, which could be a big loser if the Bell-Rolison legislation becomes law, currently has more than 6,000 foster children placed in school districts on Long Island and in the Mid-Hudson Valley, accoridng to Bell.

According to the recently passed legislation, foster children currently in a district, and those placed in a district until 1974, will be the responsibility of the home department of social services. After 1974, the home school district will have to pay to the receiving school district, such as Ellenville the difference between state aid and true operating costs.

"It is acknowledged that children will receive superior learning opportunities in the Mid-Hudson Valley and in Long Island school districts, in a better learning atmosphere," stated Bell to The Freeman Wednesday, "and children should have this opportunity, although it is not fair or equitable to expect local real property owners to bear the educational cost burden of New York City. This bill will correct this inequity."

Uptown Pike Plan . . . More Problems

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — Mayor Francis R. Koenig will call a meeting next week with what amounts to most of his department heads in an effort to get the long-delayed Pike Plan for the renovation of the Uptown business district back on the road to completion.

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency opened bids, for the third time, on the Pike Plan on April 29, approved a low bid of $143,938 and announced that work would begin next month. But, as it turned out, that was only the beginning.

That section of the Pike Plan calls for the construction of canopies on some 17 properties along the East side of Wall Street extending over the sidewalks to the street curb.

And therein lies the rub.

City officials have now learned that the city, not the property owners, will be responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of the canopies. And those canopies are made of wood, a situation the Fire Department is not enamoured with. To compound the situation, the canopies are proposed in an area that is restricted for construction; an ordinance dating back to 1909 defines the area from the buildings to the sidewalk as "off limits" because of potential fire hazards.

"There are a lot of legal things we have to work out," Mayor Koenig said following Wednesday night's meeting with the Board of Public Works where the Pike Plan was "discussed extensively." The City Charter also states that if the city were to accept the responsibility for maintenance on the canopies the Board of Public Works has to approve the project.

And so, Koenig will be meeting "sometime next week," with "all parties involved" which will include Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, Fire Chief Robert L. Maines, Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe, Albert E. Milliken, architect for the project and James G. Connors, urban renewal director.

Special

Koenig says he's "personally in favor of the (Pike) concept" and adds "we hope to see it go through if we can work out the details."

Delays and difficulties are no strangers to the Pike Plan which was presented to the Uptown Businessmen almost three and a half years ago by Woodstock artist John Pike. The concept of a turn of the century rendering of the uptown business district in keeping with the historical nature of the area, met with immediate acceptance in the business community.

Milliken was hired shortly after the December 1969 unveiling and went to work on drawing up specifications with Pike.

Bids were called for on July 28, last year, but there were no takers. Urban Renewal officials attributed the lack of bidding to the "uniqueness" of the proposal.

On Aug. 18, after some revisions and meetings with potential contractors, the agency opened bids for Phase I of the project, the east side of Wall Street from John Street to North Front Street. Henry H. Swart and Son Inc., of Kingston was the low bidder, that time, at $351,971. But that "low bid" for Phase I was more than the agency had figured for the entire job which will ultimately include the other side of Wall Street from John to North Front and both sides of North Front Street down to Converse and Green Streets.

The agency managed to get the bids in line with its budget this last time by removing the "public improvement" sections from the previous specifications such things as new sidewalks, curbing, tree planting and street lights.

Now it's up to the city.

County Would Pay $75,000 a Year

Drug 'Aftercare' Bill Opposed

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Ulster County would be faced with an additional cost of $75,000 a year, if it were obliged to takeover the care of drug abuse "aftercare patients" as proposed in a bill before the State Senate.

Consequently, 10 Republican members of the Ulster County Legislature have filed a late resolution going on record as against the county probation department's "having to takeover the after care clients unless the state assumes the full cost of the takeover without loss of revenue to the county."

The resolution will go before the Legislative and Rules Committee tonight before probable action by the Legislature at its 8 p.m. session tonight at the County Office Building.

According to Legislator Robert H. Kuhlmann (R-Dist. 10), the Ulster County Probation Department presently has case leads that are "too large for effective supervision and treatment and Ulster County currently lacks the space for the existing Probabtion Department programs."

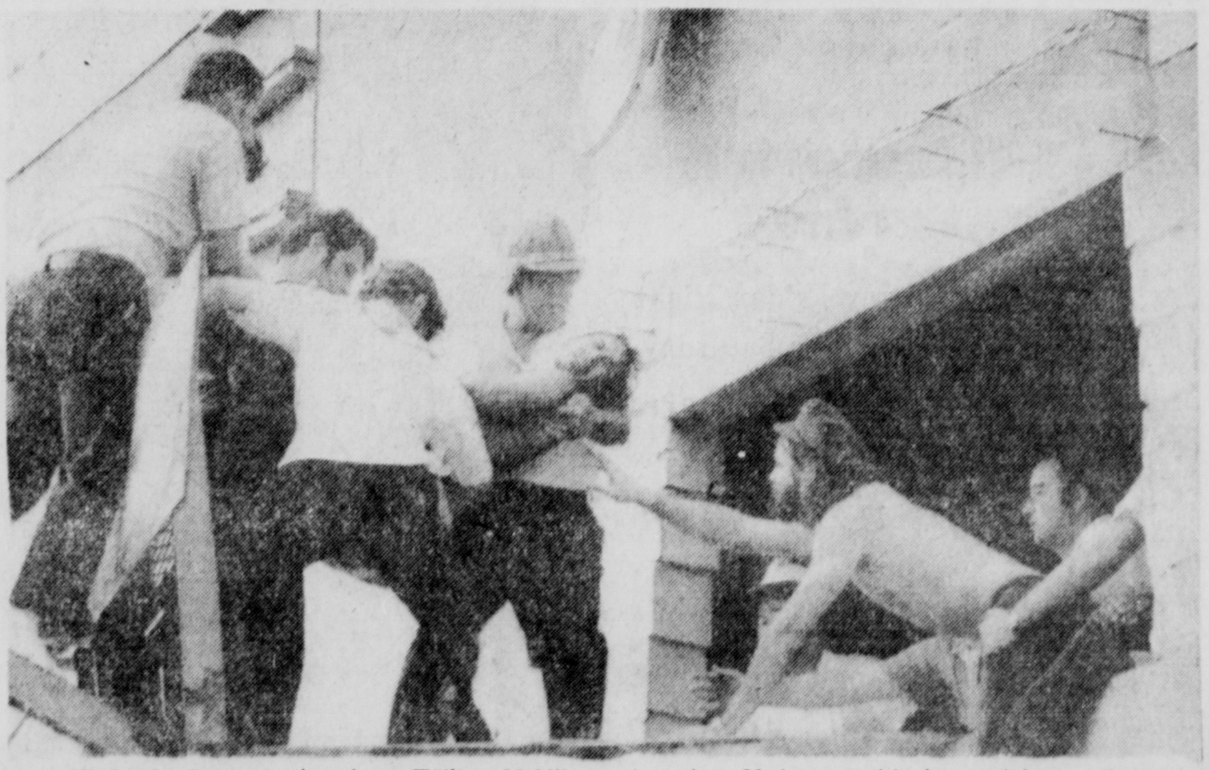

Kuhlmann said that the Probation Director Charles Schultz, had no knowledge of the Senate bill and is opposed to it pending additional information as to the complete financing of such a program by the state."

"Based on incomplete statistics that we have avaflable at this time," Kuhlmann said, "it is estimated that the additional cost would be $75,000 annually, including equipment and additional office space."

He explained that New York State currently has existing programs to handle aftercare patients.

If passed, the resolution will be sent to the New York State Supervisors' and Legislators Association requesting that they oppose the bill and that a study be made of the impact of this proposal financially. Copies of the resolution will also be sent to many state officials.

With Kuhlmann on the resolution are Chairman Peter J. Savago, Ernest J. Gardner, S. Robert Kelder, Melvin Mones, C. Freeman Lasher, Lewis Hall, Louis Bevier, James Palen, and Clifford Snyder.

Driver Charged in Paltz Fatality

NEW PALTZ — An eight-year-old boy was struck and killed by an auto Wednesday evening as he was crossing a New Paltz street with his older brother and sister after summoning them from their piano lessons for his mother. Charges have been lodged against the driver.

New Paltz Village Police, who investigated in in conjunction with Town Police, identified the dead child as David Dressel, 8, of Route 208, New Paltz.

According to police, the driver of the auto, identified as Douglas E. Parrett, 20, of Village Arms Apartments, New Paltz, told them he was proceeding south on North Chestnut Street (Route 32) when he heard the sound of something striking his jeep. Unaware that he had struck the child, he proceeded to the next traffic light, police said, and there he noticed a fresh dent in his fender. He then proceeded to the police station to report that he thought he had struck something.

Meanwhile, police had received a report that the child had been struck on North Chestnut Street, and had gone to the scene.

Charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving while his ability was impaired (drugs) were lodged against Parrett.

According to a coroner's report, the child's mother had parked on the west side of the street, and the youth had crossed to a house to tell his 15-year-old sister, Joy, and 12-year-old brother, Roderick, who were taking piano lessons, that the mother was waiting. The child was struck as the three were crossing the street toward the waiting mother, Mrs. Ethel Kellam Dressel.

The child was struck by the left front fender of the vehicle. Police said the youth was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. J. Weirsum.

Police said it was raining at the time of the accident — shortly after 8:30 p.m.

The child's body was removed from the scene to the county morgue by Fatum's Ambulance. It was examined there early today, and County Coroner Athur C. Chipp reported that the boy suffered severe head lacerations, a crushed hip and internal injuries in the mishap. He reserved decision pending further investigation.

Parrett was arraigned before New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider on the two charges. He pleaded innocent and was released in his own recognizance, pending a reappearance in court Friday evening.

Elsewhere, a one-car mishap on Route 9G at the intersection with Route 199 in the Town of Rhinebeck shortly before midnight Wednesday, resulted in minor injuries to the driver of the auto.

Rhinebeck State Police said Christine Ansorge, 22, of Poughkeepsie, was proceeding east on Rotue 199 when she failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection with Route 9G, skidded across 9G and struck a utility pole.

She was treated at Northern Dutchess Hospital for facial lacerations and later released. Police issued her a summons for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Speed Limit Lowered in Stone Ridge

STONE RIDGE — The State Department of Transportation has agreed to lower the speed limit on Route 209 from Cottekill Road north through the hamlet of Stone Ridge from the present 45 miles per hour to 40 miles per hour. It will be effective when posted.

"It took us three years to get this thing through," Supervisor Kenneth Smith told The Freeman following Wednesday night's regular meeting of the Town Board. Smith said the DOT did not define the southern limits of the 40 mile per hour zone but it is expected that it will terminate at the junction of Route 213 with Route 209, south of Stone Ridge.

Smith also announced last night that the Census Bureau has completed a special census on Marbletown and shows an increase of 279 persons since the 1970 census for a total of 4,425. Marbletown was one of 100 areas throughout the country "spot-checked" by the Census Bureau. The increase in population will not affect state aid per capita payments to the township, Smith said.

In other action, the Town Board approved a low bid of $15,964 from Michael's Chevrolet in Kingston for a combination dump truck, sander and snow plow. It will be delivered within 90 days.

A letter from the Ulster County Magistrates Association recommending that all town justices be removed from the town board and be confined to judicial duties only — necessitating the election of two new councilmen—was "taken under advisement" by the Town Board.

The Beautification Committee, headed by Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, reported on spring clean-up and planting of trees and commended the Boy Scouts and 4-H in the township for their cooperation. A request to students at Ulster County Community College to help clean up Cottekill Road, met with no response, according to Mrs. Davenport. "There wasn't a single volunteer," she reported.

The Recreation Committee took the town board to task for not purchasing additional recreational facilities (land) in the township. Smith said the town board "would try a little harder. When people don't want to sell the land there isn't much you can do," he said.

There were also complaints on numerous incidents of vandalism at the Town Park off Tongore Road. The Town Board will order increased police coverage at the park.

And, the "horse situation" seems to have improved, Smith reported. A citizen committee appointed to investigate complaints of horses wandering on the public highways reported that "things have settled down." "We (the town board) haven't had any complaints either," Smith said.

The annual Memorial Day Parade will form at the entrance to Ulster County Community College on Cottekill Road at 10:30 a.m. on May 28. It will begin a march to the town hall for ceremonies at 11 a.m.

Majority Leader Favors Pay Hikes

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—One of the legislature's leading exponents of a pay raise is backing an effort to defuse local opposition to the salary hikes.

A member of Assembly Majority Leader John E. Kingston's staff Wednesday distributed a chart spelling out the possible salaries lawmakers could receive under four alternatives.

Kingston, who readily admits that public pressure against a raise is always a problem but candidly says he favors one, maintains the legislators are entitled to higher salaries.

The chart, which was passed out to some assemblymen while they were in session, covers four categories. It indicates legislators would be entitled to a minimum salary by 1975 ranging from $21,583, based on the cost-of-living increase alone, up to $30,472 based on increases paid other stateworkers plus a standard increment.

A Capitol source said the chart would appear to be a leadership effort to provide individual lawmakers with data designed to ward off hometown attacks over reports the legislature was about to increase salaries.

Senators and assemblymen currently are paid $15,000 plus a $5,000 flat expense allowance dubbed a "lulu." The Permanent State Commission on Legislative and Judicial Salaries recently recommended salaries for the legislators be increased to $25,000 and that the "lulu" be replaced by a per - day expense account based on actual expenses.

In addition to the salary and regular lulu, legislators in positions of leadership obtain extra expenses ranging from $3,500 to $21,000 a year, the amount for Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea and Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson.

Legislative salaries were last increased in 1967, from $10,000 to the present level — and the lulu was boosted from $3,000 to $5,000 in 1971.

The chart uses 1968 as a base-level year and outlines, on a year - by - year basis, the salaries that could be justified under the four broad categories of cost of living; Civil Service increases; Civil Service increases plus 1½ per cent increments, and the Civil Service increase plus standard increments.

It also lists the cumulative assumed loss to lawmakers because they have not received an increase in pay since 1967. The loss through 1975 ranges from $24,412, based on the cost-of-living computation, to $58,511, based on the Civil Service increase plus standard increment.

The use of 1975 is significant because, under the constitution, members of the legislature may not increase their salaries during their current terms. A new legislature, which presumably will include many of today's incumbents, will take office Jan. 1, 1975.

According to the chart, if the pay raises were based on cost-of - living increases alone, the lawmaker's salary this year should be $19,391, rising to $21,583 by 1975. The cumulative assumed loss set at $24,412 for the seven years from 1968 through 1975.

If members of the legislature had been granted the same percentage increases allowed other state workers since 1968, the chart indicates a salary level of $20,532 this year—increasing to $23,069 in 1975. The cumulative loss was set at $32,658.

PSC Sets Second Session On Hurley Ridge Increase

KINGSTON — The Public Service Commission has announced it will hold a second public hearing to consider an application by the Hudson Valley Water Company for a rate increase for customers in a portion of Hurley Ridge in West Hurley.

The initial public hearing was held Monday at the Ulster County Office Building, where homeowners in the affected area presented their case gainst the proposed rate increase.

Monday's hearing was conducted by Joseph Holt, director of the PSC's water division. He said the second hearing would be required to consider additional testimony and information.

No date has yet been set for the hearing.

The water company had requested the rate increase to become efefctive April 1, but the PSC has ordered the increase held in abeyance until July 29, pending the result ofpublic hearing will also be held the hearing. at the Ulster County Office

It is expected that the second Building on Fair Street.

5-15 Yr. Sentence

NEW YORK (UPI) — H. Rap Brown, a leading black militant of the late 1960s, was sentenced Wednesday to between five and 15 years in prison for his part in the robbery of a bar.

His only comment, made before sentencing, was: "Truth crushed to the earth will rise again." One of those who asked for leniency, playwright Imamu Amiri Baraka, said Brown was "a hero to us" and added, "The system systematically kills off our leaders."

Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Arnold Fraiman said, however, that he was sentencing Brown "not as a black man and not as a white man" but as a convicted criminal. His guilt in the October, 1971, holdup of the Red Carpet Lounge on Manhattan"s West Side had been "overwhelmingly established," Fraiman said.

Brown, 29, had been chairman of the Student Non-Violent Cordinating Committee. He had been charged with inciting a riot in Cambridge, Md., but disappeared as the case came to trial. Police sought him for more than three years before he was caught during the holdup.

One of Brown's codefendants, Levi Valentine, 25, was sentenced to five to 20 years. Sentencing for the other codefendant, Samuel Petty, 24, was delayed until May 24, because questions have arisen over some evidence used against him.

Ross Park Vandalism Esopus Curfew Cause

By CARL GRAHAM

PORT EWEN

The Esopus Town Board voted Wednesday night to close Ross Park to the public after 8:30 p.m. in an effort to curb vandalism there.

The board acted after hearing Jay Bertha, chairman of the town recreation commission, describe conditions there as hazardous for children due to large numbers of broken bottles. Parts of the park are unusable and vandals have destroyed picnic tables on several occasions, Bertha said in calling for immediate and effective police protection in the Port Ewen park.

Supervisor George Freer said he would work out a schedule of increased patrols by town police and would ask the Ulster County Sheriff's Department for help in patroling the park, which now closes at 11 p.m. The basketball court is excluded from the 8:30 p.m. curfew voted by the board.

The board voted to have Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. make a survey of the Port Ewen and Sleightsburgh areas to prepare a proposal for updating street lighting. Freer read a letter from Central Hudson estimating cost of replacing obsolete lighting fixtures in the two localities at approximately $1.17 per thousand of assessed valuation. Board members said they had received numerous complaints from residents of the areas about inadequate lighting.

The Spinnenweber Construction Company was granted permission to put a landfill on its property on Doris Street in Port Ewen. The company, in a letter to the board, said that no garbage would be dumped and that discarded building materials would be covered daily.

The board granted permission on condition that the firm clean up several areas where they already have dumped lumber, brick, and other building material residue and directed Chester DuMond, building inspector, to make sure that the board's requirements are met.

Freer said he would file a formal complaint aagainst garbage collectors operating during early morning hours in the Horton Lane area. Several residents of the area have complained about the noise from garbage trucks as they collect trash from the Grand Union supermarket and other businesses nearby.

Freer said he was directing a letter to the Department of Transportation asking for a traffic survey between Route 9W and the Penn Central railroad tracks in West Park. Residents of the area petitioned the board at the April meeting for a reduction of speed limits there. Freer said that a "speed bump," an artificial barrier in the road requested by the petitioners, was illegal on a public highway.

The board asked the Port Ewen Water District Board to submit a recommendation on the purchase of a 40 by 60 foot building owned by the Ulster County Highway Department to be used for storage of vehicles, tools, and equipment of the water district. The board will act on the matter at its June 13 meeting after considering the water board's recommendation. Estimated cost is $32,000.

The board referred to the zoning board a request for a variance by Paul Pietrantonio of Ozone Park, who asked permission to put a mobile home on a lot on Hardenburgh Road. The Board noted that the town moratorium on mobile homes is still in effect but that it did not apply to modular homes, and suggested that Pietrantonio consider a modular unit.

Freer read a letter from the Department of Transportation noting that parking would be restricted on both sides of Route 9W northward 50 feet from the Route 57 intersection when repair work begins on the Rondout Creek bridge. At the same time a speed limit of 30 miles per hour will be put on the Salem Street detour between Route 9W and Route 213. Exact starting times will be determined by the contractor's work schedule, with work estimated to start in late June.

Freer announced tentative special assessment rates for public utilities in the town for the 1973-74 fiscal year. Estimated figures were $164,293 for Central Hudson, $3,925 for American Telephone and Telegraph, $119,445 for New York Telephone and $7,735 for Kingston Cablevision. Rates are subject to changes in the state equalization rates for the town.

Evelyn Gilman, chairman of the environmental conservation commission, announced that a recycling drive will be held in conjunction with Ulster County Cleanup Day on May 19. Glass, aluminum and all paper except magazines will be accepted between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the recycling center on Salem Street near the railroad crossing.

New Paltz Town Action

Board Members to List Realty Holdings

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

All members of the New Paltz Town Board agreed, at their meeting Wednesday night, to list their individual real estate holdings, including any corporate interests.

Some residents of the town have been calling for the move for the past several months. Development in New Paltz has been active, and those calling for the real estate lists say the information should be public so that board members would be able to avoid all appearance of impropriety in making decisions concerning new development.

It was not clear whether the listings would be made public, or if they would be filed with the town's board of ethics. Councilman Dominick Sfregola suggested filing the lists with the board of ethics, and he also said that if lists were going to be made they should come from every town official and employe.

The town board members agreed to the listing under direct questioning from Village Trustee John Logan, who along with local resident Louis Fagon, has been asking for the listings. Sfregola asked Logan if the village board had made public their real estate holdings yet, and Logan said he would be glad to make his known if anyone asked him to.

Fagon also attacked the town board of ethics, saying it did not understand its mission.

Councilman Walter Dyer, a member of the board of ethics, said they had had six meetings, and were getting their rules and regulations in order. He said he expected they would be in final form within a month.

John Gibbons, of 54 Millrock Road, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of former Councilman George Mackey, who recently resigned. Gibbons, an IBM employee, has been a 12-year resident of the town, and a 35-year resident of the New Paltz-Gardiner area.

Town Supervisor Theodore Lasher reported that the town and the village had met on the problem of Tributary 13, a small stream which runs through the town and the village and periodically floods. Lasher said it was agreed to let the engineers decide how to solve the problem, with the town and village each bearing a share of the cost of the solution.

Village Planning Board Member E. Ralph Kulseng wrote a letter to the board recommending that the town's zoning ordinances be amended to require multiple access for new apartment developments and planned unit developments. His suggestion was taken under advisement.

Mrs. Helen Karsten was appointed to the town planning board, to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Margaret Pyle who resigned. The term runs until 1978.

Planning consultant James Spratt was authorized to go ahead with the engineering work on the planned Fulton Road extension in the town.

Town Attorney Wendell Harp said all the land had been acquired, and the road laid out.

Lasher proclaimed the month of May Senior Citizens Month in the Town of New Paltz.

The board authorized the borrowing of up to $100,000 on a capital construction note for work on the reconstruction of Route 299 at Simmons Plana.

Rosendale Town Session

Landfill Problems Dominate

TOWN OF ROSENDALE

The Town of Rosendale, plagued by landfill problems, has asked Ulster County officials to consider a regional landfill and has asked the Town of New Paltz for permission to dump refuse there until county studies are completed.

Supervisor Gerard Defelicis said at Wednesday night's board meeting that the town had asked the Ulster County Board of Health and the Planning Board to conduct a study on the feasibility of a regional landfill to serve the towns of New Paltz, Rochester, Marbletown, and Rosendale.

"We need a regional landfill," Defelicis said. "Other towns have landfill problems, too."

A serious water runoff problem at the landfill on Hickory Bush Road has brought objections from nearby residents, flooded runoff water over the roadway, subjected the area to a heavy stench, and has cost the town money to raise the roadway several inches since the problem came to a head last summer, Defelicis said.

He said that town officials had inspected three possible new landfill sites, but had to reject them all. The town has hired an engineering firm to tackle the problem, as suggested by the Board of Health.

"We've done everything they have asked of us," Defelicis said. "Fifteen years ago the estimated life of the landfill was set at 50 years, but state requirements have gone up since then. Now we're on a month-to-month basis."

Defelicis said a letter would be sent immediately to the New Paltz town board exploring the possibility of a dumping contract between the two towns until the Rosendale situation is straightened out.

The board tabled until next month's meeting action on five bids received on an addition to the town highway garage in Maple Hill. Bids ranged from about $32,000 to $46,000, Defelicis said. Cost of the addition, to be used for equipment storage, had been estimated at $25,000 to $30,000 and the board might rebid the project, he said.

Beirut Remains Quiet

Lebanese Jets in Border Strikes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese jets attacked Palestinian guerrillas from Syria along the border late Wednesday afternoon, but Beirut was quiet as the second outbreak of fighting between the Lebanese army and guerrillas based inside the country subsided.

The air force struck at guerrillas battling army forces in the Bekaa Valley and moving up for an attack on army commandos in the town of Rachaya, in southeast Lebanon, official sources said.

The army said 13 of its men were killed, 65 were wounded and six were missing in the Bekaa fighting.

Palestinians who crossed the Syrian border during fighting in Beirut Tuesday had clashed with the army near Rachaya Tuesday night, but the army said then that the fighting was "quickly contained."

The number of invaders from Syria was not known, but 5,000 of them came over during the fighting last week between the Lebanese army and guerrillas based in Lebanon. That force clashed with the army near Aiha then returned to Syria after a cease-fire was reached in Beirut.

Persons living near the border said the Lebanese air force flew 20 sorties against the intruders, hitting positions near the villages of Yanta, Deir el Ashayer and Bayader al Adass for more than two hours. The attacks followed a prolonged artillery attack on the guerrillas.

In Beirut, a commission of army and guerrilla representatives announced it had reached a series of agreements to make the most recent cease-fire "final and prevent incidents that might strain the situation again."

Details were not immediately available.

A cease-fire was announced last Friday following two days of hard fighting on the outskirts of Beirut, but the fighting resumed Monday night. Another truce was declared late Tuesday.

The Skylab Countdown

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Despite a lightning strike on the launch pad, simultaneous countdowns went smoothly for firing the Skylab space station and its first three-man crew into orbit Monday and Tuesday.

The lightning bolt Wednesday afternoon hit a mast on the mobile service structure attached to the giant Saturn 5 rocket that will thrust the 100-ton orbiting laboratory into space for eight months of exploration.

Space agency officials said the big rocket wasn't powered up at the time, but a retest of the launcher was being run as insurance against problems developing.

Astronauts Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz will be launched 23½ hours after the space station, the nation's first, in a refurbished Apollo ferry ship that will dock with the lab.

Two other three-man crews will visit Skylab for 56 days each this year to learn more about the earth, the sun and man's stamina during extended stays in space.

Civil Defense officials predicted the crowd for the first American back-to-back manned launches would range between one-half and three-fourths of a million. About 500,000 persons saw the Apollo 17 moon mission launch last December.

Motel space in the Cape area was at a premium, although some proprietors said they had a few rooms left, unlike the week before most Apollo launches. Among the 40,000 guests invited by the space agency were the nation's 600 returned prisoners of war. More than 1,500 reporters were expected to cover the launches.

In Houston, Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz kept a busy schedule that included rehearsing their launch in a command module simulator today.

The astronauts worked in a simulator Wednesday and attended briefings. The major crew preflight physical examination is planned for Friday, before they fly to the spaceport Sunday.

About 130 striking electrical workers whose walkout two weeks ago had threatened to delay the Skylab launches agreed to go back to work Wednesday, after voting for a new contract. The workers man a key tracking station for Bendix Field Engineering Corp.

Fierce Fighting Continues Near Cambodian Capital

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Military sources said today the Communists shifted the brunt of their offensive Wednesday from Phnom Penh to northern Cambodia, but fierce fighting both north and south of the capital claimed heavy casualties.

The sources said U.S. jet fighter-bombers flying through monsoon clouds in some areas flew more missions in the country Wednesday.

American warplanes have been flying support for ground troops daily for more than two months in Cambodia, the only Indochina country with no formal truce.

Military sources said the new rebel thrust was centered along two major roads, Highways 5 and 7 north of Phnom Penh.

The Cambodian command said 15 government troops were killed in a Communist shelling attack about nine miles south of Phnom Penh near the market town of Takhmau. There were no reports of Communist casualties.

Command spokesmen also said 11 Cambodian soldiers died and 18 were wounded in two night rebel attacks on government positions south of Tuk Laak on Highway 5 about 32 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. Military sources said the government defenders regrouped and fought back with 105mm howitzers, killing or wounding 50 of the attackers.

Sources also said at least 17 Cambodian troops were wounded Wednesday when a propeller-driven government T28 bomber mistakenly struck a government position about two miles south of the besieged provincial capital of Takeo, 55 miles south of Phnom Penh. Takeo has been surrounded by rebel troops for months.

Showdown Vote in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House decides today whether to authorize money for U.S. bombing of Cambodia. President Nixon's supporters said the showdown could result in the first House antiwar vote of the Indochina conflict.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La., a leader of Southern Democrats who in the past has joined Republicans in support of presidents' war policies, said the coalition favoring the Nixon stand was about five votes short late Wednesday.

"If we were voting right now I think we'd lose," Waggonner said.

The vote was on Nixon's request in a $2.8-billion supplemental money bill for authority to transfer $430 million for military spending, including $150 million for the bombing and other Indochina activities.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said Monday the bombing will continue in an effort to force a Cambodia cease-fire even if Congress rejects the transfer authority.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate pressed for its rejection anyway, contending it could be construed as approval not only of the Cambodian bombing but of future U.S. steps to try to force a cease-fire.

"I don't want to declare another war with ambiguous language in an appropriation bill," House Speaker Carl Albert said last week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Wednesday that if rejection of the $150 million does not stop the bombing Congress should reject every other measure for the Pentagon.

Legislative Raise

The proposed salary hike of $10,000 for state legislators is being harpooned from all sides by cost-conscious taxpayer groups and individual citizens. Coupled with this, a state commission recommending pay hikes for state judges ranging from $8,000 to $12,000 annually, has also raised statewide ire.

To balance what appears to be enormous salary increases, the commission has also suggested a plan to abolish "lulus" and substiture per diem expense vouchers for legislators, subject to control by the state comptroller. This is one plus for the taxpayer.

The resistance to the exhorbitant pay raise, amounting to 67 per cent for legislators, can well be understood in these inflationary times. Granted that the increases would not take effect until January, 1975, the mere idea of such a jump in pay does little to assuage the feelings of New York taxpayers who, themselves, are finding it hard to make ends meet, having to be satisfied with 5.5 per cent increases prescribed by the Cost of Living Council.

To their credit, Senators Schermerhorn and Mason were adamantly opposed to such a whopping hike, while Assemblymen Bell and Betros also expressed reservations over the commission's report.

Undoubtedly, public servants as well as ordinary citizens require salary increments as a hedge against the inflationary spiral, but the commission's recommendations can only be termed excessive. Let those on the "Hill" first clean their own house with much-needed legislative reform, such as establishing longer legislative sessions, and the paying public may be more receptive to a more modest hike in pay.

Mess of Absurd Rules

OSHA sounds like a Japanese name but it's just as American as Occupational Safety And Health Act, the federal law from which the acronym derives.

And being American and being a product of Congress, it has the usual foibles, twists, inconsistencies and unenforceable facets which all too often are found in regulatory measures. It's strange how the best intentioned of legislators fail to include practicability when devising some of their laws.

The law goes to such absurd lengths that businessmen understandably are upset. Every business has been given an inch-thick manual prescribing the manner in which the regulations are to be carried out and some of them are so patently impractical as to make one wonder how they could have been conceived.

The motivation for OSHA is commendable.

By eliminating occupational hazards, it is intended to reduce industrial accidents, thus increasing efficiency, production, profits and the workers' morale. Can't quarrel with that.

But there's many a slip between the promulgation of such regulations and their implementations, as was revealed in a recent Associated Press story.

The story noted how in their zeal to get the measure on the books, officials included outmoded regulations such as banning ice in drinking water and calling for split toilet seats. Now we'll admit that ice cubes made from the chemically-saturated water of some communities aren't the best tasting in this world. They might even drive a man to drink—drink something other than cold water, we mean. But this can't be categorized as an occupational safety hazard. Or can it?

Then there's the dispute as to whether electrical outlets should be painted orange. And how about the need to ground electric typewriters.

The fact is—the law basically is good only because it exists.

The department only has 550 job-safety inspectors and it has 5,000,000 places to inspect. It would take years before everyone was visited on a routine call. In practice what happens is the inspectors usually go to places where bad accidents have occurred. This is a little like locking the stable door belatedly.

What Congress should have done was give small businesses a reasonable length of time to comply with the safety regulations because some of the requirements impose expenses on a business which seem out of proportion. Meanwhile it should revise the law and eliminate many of the petty and needless requirements.

Dean Linked to ITT Case

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — We now have evidence that ex-White House counsel John Dean directed not only the Watergate coverup but the earlier ITT cover-up as well. In both cases, he obstructed investigators, suppressed evidence and tried to influence the testimony.

Here's what we have now learned about his ITT operation:

— During the ITT hearings, he would slip up to Capitol Hill and operate out of Vice President Agnew's office. On one occasion, Dean phoned the Senate Judiciary Committee and asked a secretary to deliver a message to attorney Edward P. Taptich. The lawyer, formerly associated in the same law firm with Dean, represented ITT consultant Jack Gleason who had been called to testify. The secretary handed Taptich a note, asking him to contact Dean in the Vice President's office.

In these august quarters, the two men discussed what Gleason might be asked on the witness stand. Then Taptich huddled with his client before the testimony.

Dita's Memo

— As part of our case against ITT, we tuned over to the Senate the celebrated Dita Beard memo, which linked the settlement of ITT's antitrust troubles with a $400,000 commitment to help finance the Republican convention. The Senate asked the FBI to determine whether the memo was a forgery and got back a report that it was written on Dita Beard's typewriter with the ribbon she was using on the day it was dated.

But unknown to the senators, Dean asked acting FBI chief L. Patrick Gray for the memo. Not long after Gray delivered the memo to Dean, it was sneaked to ITT which hired its own experts to try to prove it was a forgery.

— Howard Hunt, who earlier burglarized the offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and later helped plot the Watergate break-in, was also assigned tc the ITT case. He reported that Dita Beard had fabricated her memo to blackmail her bosses.

White House aide Charles Colson dispatched Hunt, wearing a preposterous red wig, to Denver with a message for Dita Beard tha' it would not be held against her if she would confess the alleged forgery. But the indomitable Dita insisted to Hunt that the memo was authentic. It came as a total surprise to the White House when she later hedged.

Anderson Tailed

— In addition to Hunt, ITT hired the famed private detective firm Intertel, and Dean asked Assistant Attorney General Robert Mardian to investigate us. Mardian used government gumshoes to stake out my house and tail me. Investigative reports from both Mardian and Intertel passed across Dean's desk.

— Most flagrant of all, Dean was behind the suppression of 34 cartons of documents that ITT had delivered under subpoena to the Securities and Exchange Commission. These papers included confidential memos which contradicted the sworn testimony of then-Attorney General John Mitchell at the ITT hearing and implicated Vice President Agnew and former Treasury Secretary John Connally in the ITT antitrust fix.

Under the law, the SEC falls under the jurisdiction of Congress, so House Commerce chairman Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., asked to see the ITT documents. But then-SEC Chairman William Casey defied Congress and sent his executive assistant, Charles Whitman, and general counsel, Bradford Cook, over to the White House on the hustle. They spent an hour with John Dean.

"There's a number of people like the Vice President . . . and Mitchell (in the documents) and it looks like they're going to be used for political purposes," Whitman reported to Dean. The White House counsel advised them not to send the documents up to Capitol Hill, at least not without a subpoena.

The two SEC officials reported this advice back to Casey who also spoke to Dean on October 3. Dean suggested that Casey should give the documents not to Congress but to the Justice Department. Dean said he would take the matter up with the Justice Deparment.

Meeting With Casey

Later the same day, Deputy Attorney General Ralph Erickson phoned Casey and asked him to stop by the next day. On October 4, Casey reported to Erickson that "the committee has requested documents from the file, certain documents." They discussed the fact that both the SEC and Justice Department were conducting investigations of ITT. Erickson said Justice "ought to have them (the documents)."

Casey immediately returned to his office and called a special meeting of the SEC at 3 p.m. the same day. The meeting lasted 10 minutes. At Casey's urging, the SEC agreed to turn over the hot ITT documents to Justice.

The politically sensitive documents, which had been locked in a special safe, were hand-carried in a manila envelope to Erickson on October 6. The 34 cartons were delivered in a rented truck the same day.

The House Commerce Committee is quietly investigating the ITT cover-up. Both Dean and Erickson probably will be called as witnesses.

Footnote: My associate Les Whitten asked Erickson, no longer in the Justice Department, whether Dean had contacted him about the ITT documents. "I have no recollection," said Erickson. "John (Dean) and I talked a lot. I worked with John a great deal." But Casey said he was "pretty near sure" that Dean had called Erickson.

George McGovern Still Lives

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY Jr.

Senator McGovern has heatedly denied saying to Joe McGinniss the things McGinniss published in the New York Times Magazine last Sunday. McGinniss has stuck by his version of what McGovern told him, late at night at various motels during a weekend of campaigning in South Dakota last March.

On the question of which man is correct, I incline towards McGinniss. He is a gifted reporter, with an ear for idiom. Moreover, although he begins his piece by acknowledging that by the time election day came around he "found it a duty to support (McGovern), not a privilege," McGinniss is clearly in sympathy with McGovern and McGovernism, and the whole of the piece inures greatly to the advantage of McGovern the man, though of course the headline-making excerpts were damaging.

People don't care very much whether a president likes his vice president, or whether a presidential candidate likes his vice presidential candidate — as often as not they dislike each other, and for reasons perfectly natural. But they do care that a president or a candidate be circumspect in speaking about the other man, and this George McGovern was not, though the sutures were nicely applied last week, with McGovern and Eagleton pledging to each other their perpetual love and admiration as the article was about to come out — the kind of thing Nelson Rockefeller and John Lindsay used to do.

What McGovern did not protest, so far as is known, was more interesting really than the Eagleton business, and confirms the surreal world that presidential candidate McGovern lives in. He told about going to the football stadium in Washington in mid-August. "In order to get to our seats, we had to cross a catwalk above a section where people were seated. As soon as they saw me, they started to boo. There was a certain amount of applause, too. . .but the booing wasn't the good-natured kind. It had a mean, ugly tone. I looked down and I saw hatred, real contempt, on the faces. They were shaking their fists and shouting 'get outta here, ya sonofabitch.' Things like that. It was awful. It was the first time I had seen this kind of harsh, ugly undercurrent."

And then McGovern told McGinniss about the consequence for America of his defeat in November. "I really believe we may have missed our last chance to turn away from militarism, to prevent a loss of faith in our institutions.

From this juxtaposition one sees the perverse innocence of George McGovern — still he doesn't understand why he was beaten. His candidacy, he says, was "our last chance to turn away from militarism." Militarism is not a spectre that hangs over American life. There are probably more Americans afraid of being bitten by black widow spiders than by American militarists.

But there are many many Americans, and some of them no doubt were at the football stadium that afternoon in mid-August, who believe that a demagogic disparagement of the military and the underestimation of their importance — by such proposals as a reduction of 30 billion in the military budget — endanger everything they care for. The security of the country, the health and safety of their children — their freedom, among other things to reject George McGovern.

He thought, he told McGinniss, of leaving America after the election; of going to live in England, but was restrained from doing so only out of a sense of loyalty to the two million Americans who had worked for his victory. One fears that he really believes that in England the people would have reacted differently.

Meanwhile it must be particularly galling to learn that the nomination of Candidate McGovern was not alone the work of Professors Galbraith and Schlesinger and Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice, but of Donald Segretti et al, agents of the White House, who knew that Nixon would stand the best chance of all against the American who knew least of all about his country.

The Nation

Familiar . . . Banal and Bizarre

By MARTIN F. NOLAN

WASHINGTON — The grounds of the White House last week did not seem like the setting for an Allen Drury novel inhabited by an unlikely Fletcher Knebel character.

The pink and white azalea blossoms offered a real fragrance and the columns of the North Portico stood gleamingly white, solid and substantial.

Yet a fictional aura hung over the evening. The sense of dramatic reality had been drained by ritual and trivia. It was, after all, the umpteenth crisis for Richard Nixon and yet another session of the routine. "I won't keep you late tonight," he told reporters and photographers as he arrived by helicopter from Camp David with his Irish setter, King Timahoe.

A few minutes before air time, he went through his ordeal of chit-chat with the network technicians, apologizing for some reason that his helicopter was delayed.

"Hope you don't lose your job," he said. "We ran a little late last time."

"Two minutes, Mr. President," said a voice.

"Think the Redskins will do well this year?" asked the nation's No. 1 Fan. The reply professed a sympathy for New York teams.

"You know what I am? I'm a bowler," said the President. "I can bowl 150 average. That's like a 12 handicap in golf."

"One minute, Mr. President," said the voice.

"I don't know my last words right now. I'll just ad lib," the President said. "I'll let you known when I'm ready at the end."

"Thirty seconds, Mr. President."

"Ah, if I were as young as you," said Richard Nixon. "What I wouldn't give to be 50 again."

On millions of television screens appeared the glistening floodlit ortrait of the White House, symbol of the power, glory and occasional despair of the men who dwell inside.

"I want to talk to you tonight from my heart," he said, and 24 minutes later he gave his promised cue to the TV technicians, setting aside his sheaf of papers to ad lib "God bless America."

After his speech, the President left the Oval Office, apparently by the French doors leading to the Rose Garden and unexpectedly visited the press room some 50 feet away.

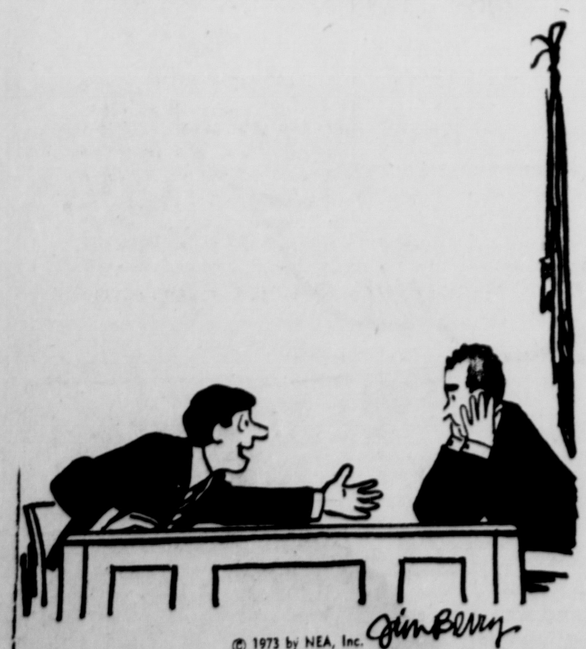

The press room boasts lighting facilities as elaborate as those at 20th Century Fox. But as the President stood at the rostrum addressing a handful of reporters, the scene was almost total darkness. Photographers fumbled for new lenses and the President quickly said that the press ought to "continue to give me hell when I'm wrong. And I hope I'm worthy of your trust."

It was an odd note of humility after a speech largely devoted to explaining why "I sought to delegate campaign operations, and to remove the day-to-day campaign decisions from the President's office."

Like an apparition, he was gone in seconds, leaving behind an ashen image of doubt and travail.

But what the public saw was fiction somehow, catch phrases like "one of the most difficult decisions of my Presidency . . . the easiest course would be for me to . . . peace with honor . . . I ask for your prayers."

Judge to Rule on Dismissal Motion

Concluding Arguments in 'Papers' Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo conclude their last arguments today on why they think the charges against their clients should be dismissed before the Pentagon papers trial, now tightly enmeshed with the Watergate scandal, goes to the jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne has promised that sometime during the day he would make a decision on the defense motion for dismissal based on Watergate and White House involvements in the case.

The defense has been pressing for dismissal ever since it was first revealed that Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy had masterminded a burglary of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Attorneys for Ellsberg and Russo contend government activities uncovered by the judge's two-week probe of the matter have shown that the defendants' rights to a fair trial were violated.

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen said nothing from the burglary was used by the Justice Department in prosecuting Ellsberg and Russo and that the government's evidence against them has not been tainted. He opposes dismissal of the charges.

But the defense team says it will not be satisfied until it has explanations of all government actions in the matter—including the 10-day delay between the time Watergate prosecutor Earl J. Silbert reported the burglary information and the day it was reported to Byrne.

Four Justice Department officials, including Nissen, filed affidavits with Byrne Wednesday saying they knew nothing about the burglary until the Silbert memo on April 16. But none of the statements mentioned why it took until April 26 to tell Byrne.

The defense team said it considered the affidavits "entirely insufficient" and would keep pressing for a full scale hearing with testimony. Defense attorneys have said they are "actively considering" trying to allege that President Nixon impeded delivery of the memo to the judge.

Joining Nissen in filing an affidavit were Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen, who heads the Watergate probe; Justice Department attorney John Martin; and Deputy Asst. Atty. Gen. Kevin T. Maroney, who is general supervisor of the Pentagon papers prosecution.

Petersen acknowledged that pictures of the psychiatrist's office taken by Hunt and developed by the Central Intelligence Agency were delivered to the Justice Department in October 1972 in connection with the Watergate case, but he said no one realized any link to the Pentagon papers case before this week.

In their arguments today, attorneys for both sides were ordered by Byrne to speak on the question of whether the case should be thrown out on the ground that the government has not presented sufficient trial evidence to prove the defendants guilty.

They are accused of espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the Pentagon papers, a top secret study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, in 1969.

Political Maneuvering on State Tax Cut

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The political maneuvering over a possible tax cut this year is reaching a peak with leaders in the Assembly and Senate, and Governor Rockefeller, making moves and counter-moves.

The back-stage drama involves both Republicans and Democrats—but it will finally revolve around what the majority GOP decides—and if the Republican governor is going to allow any tax cuts at all.

As of now, a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Willis H Stephens of Brewster, the Republican chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which would repeal the 2.5 per cent income tax surcharge is ready for floor action in the Assembly.

The bill would benefit taxpayers by a total of about $80 million. The increase was part of a $450 million tax boost passed in January, 1972, to bail the state out of a fiscal crisis.

Another bill by Stephens, which would restore the $12.50 and $25 income tax credits at a total taxpayer benefit of about $120 million, is still in legislative limbo.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman Burton G. Hecht of the Bronx, ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee, has prepared bills similar to Stephens' and also has ready a measure that would repeal the "hot dog" tax on restaurant meals of less than $1.

Hecht is prepared to try to force the Ways and Means Committee to report his measures for floor action — and clearing Stephens' surcharge measure was seen as a GOP means of preventing the Democrat from stealing their thunder.

Hecht told a newsman Wednesday he would wait for at least "a couple of more days" to see what the Republican leadership would do with the tax cut bills before trying to force his measures out of committee.

Efforts to force bills from any committee have never met with success.

Another factor entering the tax cut picture is Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea's reported disenchantment with some fiscal bills coming out of the Senate. The speaker reportedly is disturbed because the Senate passes the bills requiring additional spending and then sends them to his house. That leaves Duryea in the position of either killing a bill—and facing the wrath of the eople who want the money spent—or passing the bill and watching tax-cut hopes slip away in a sea of higher spending.

A third factor is Rockefeller, who has said a tax cut this year would be "unwise and totally irresponsible." His position has not altered noticeably of late.

Democrats have accused the governor of attempting to build a large pre-election year surplus so that he can then either dramatically cut taxes next year or provide extra spending in key districts.

Rockefeller has denied the surplus and shrugs off as political the Democratic attacks on his fiscal policies.

When the Republican majorities in both houses passed Rockefeller's $8.77 billion budget in late March, Duryea and Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson announced Stephens' bills would be introduced. But they said the bills would not be acted upon unless that state's fiscal position clearly warranted it. They said that decision would most likely be made by mid-May.

It is now nearing mid-May and the pressure for a tax cut is not decreasing.

GOP Governors Open Meetings

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican governors open their formal meetings today while aides seek to draft a statement stressing the importance of a full Watergate disclosure and the need for a wider role for the themselves in the GOP.

Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, told a reporter that some of his assistants are working on a Watergate statement and added it will likely combine the appeal for total disclosure with praise for President Nixon's recent efforts in that direction.

Other GOP governors interviewed at the opening reception of the three-day conference Wednesday night said one of the major subjects to be taken up Friday at an all-day private discussion of political matters is whether to say something collectively about the Watergate scandal now shaking the Nixon administration and, if so, what to say.

A number of governors said that the resignation of top White House aides and President Nixon's recent Watergate statements had made it easier for the governors to take a firm stand against the entire affair, blame it on those officials rather than the Republican party, and praise the President's leadership.

"There is no way we can meet and not say something about it," said Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, one of those responsible for the increased emphasis on political, as opposed to governmental, matters at this session.

Pistol Found Near Bodies Of Banker, Wife

VALLEY FALLS, N.Y. (AP) —Fingerprint tests have been initiated on a .32-caliber pistol found near the bodies of a prominent Troy banker and his wife, investigators say.

The weapon was found near the sprawled bodies of Gordon L. Banker, 55, a former president of Union National Bank in Troy, and his second wife Marjorie, 56, according to Rensselaer County Dist. Atty. Con G. Cholakis.

An autopsy revealed that Banker had sustained a fatal skull wound and his wife had two wounds in the chest, one in the abdomen and a fatal wound in the skull. Dr. James Barrett, Rensselaer County medical examiner said.

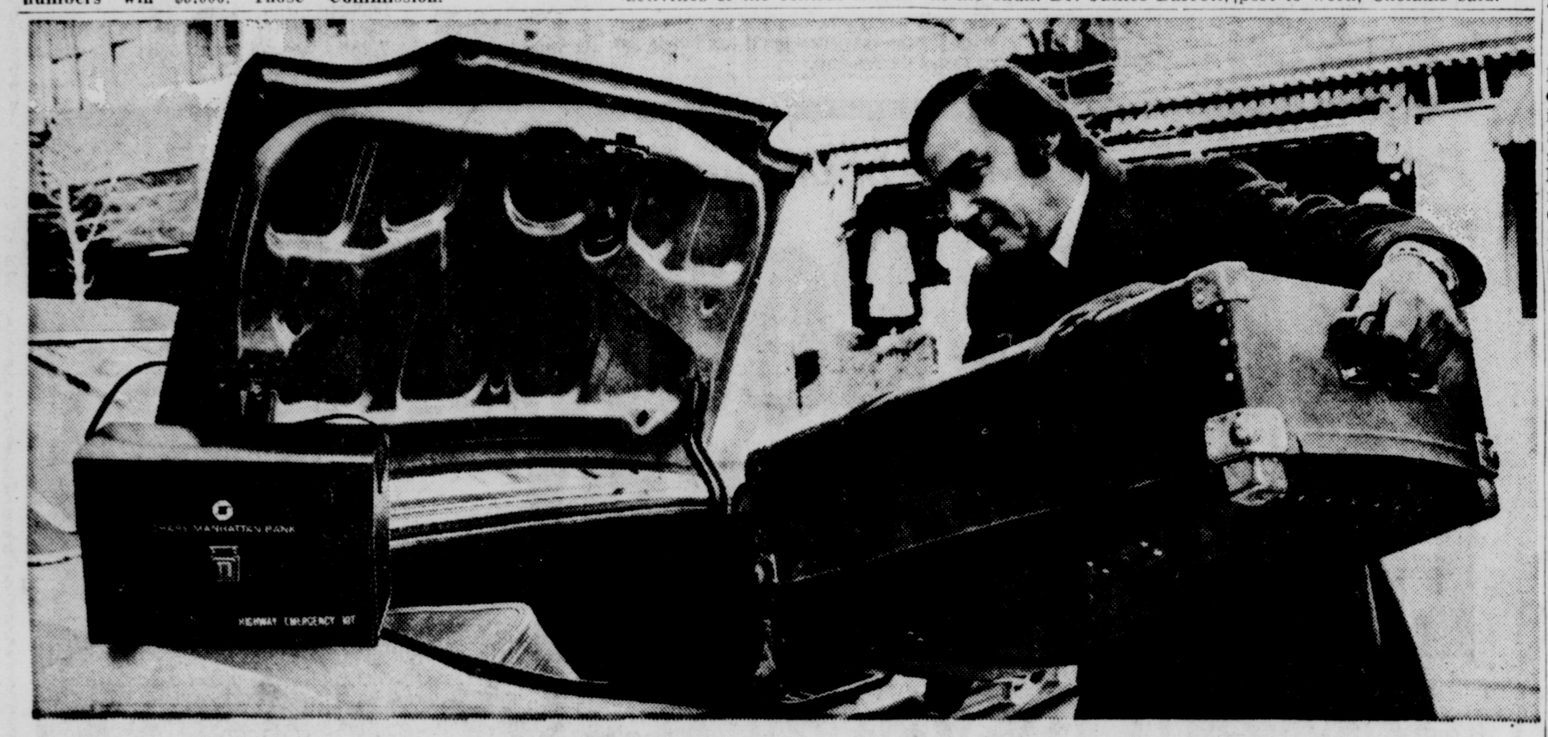

Both State Police and Cholakis called the deaths an apparent murder and suicide. There were no signs of forced entry into the Bankers' home.

Investigators said the bullets which struck the couple were fired from the same pistol.

The bodies were discovered Wednesday morning by Thomas Davis, principal of Hoosic Valley Central School where Mrs. Banker was an elementary teacher, after she failed to report to work, Cholakis said.

Appointment

The Highland Board of Education has appointed Terrance Olivo to the post of administrative intern to the chief school officer, beginning July 1, the board announced. Olivo, who has been with the district since 1967, will be involved in the coordination of the curriculum, public relations and other activities of the central office.

DID YOU HEAR THE ONE ABOUT THE TRAVELING SALESMAN WHO GOT A FREE HIGHWAY EMERGENCY KIT WITH HIS NEW CAR LOAN?

"That's a very beautiful emergency kit," said the traveling salesman; "it certainly would be a handsome addition to the new car I'm planning to buy."

"Well," replied the Chase Manhattan loan officer, "anyone who takes out a new car loan from Chase between May 1st and June 30th gets one of these kits free."

The traveling salesman did not want to appear too anxious in front of the banker. "Is it practical?" he asked.

The banker smiled, opened the luggage-like carrying case and began describing the contents.

"An aerosol fire extinguisher, good for all types of small fires, even electrical, oil or grease.

"An aerosol tire inflater, with a latex sealer that inflates and seals flat tires in less than a minute.

"An emergency blinker with a large suction cup base that you can position on your car top or the roadside. It's visible for miles.

"A high-intensity spotlight with a 12-foot cord that plugs into your cigarette lighter.

"Eight-foot booster cables. Six-foot gas siphon pump. A first-aid kit complete with a 25-page first-aid book."

The salesman was amazed. "And you're giving this away? Free? Why it must be worth at least $19.95 retail!"

"Exactly," answered the banker. "You have a good eye for value. Were you ever a banker?"

"No," said the salesman, "I work for a living."

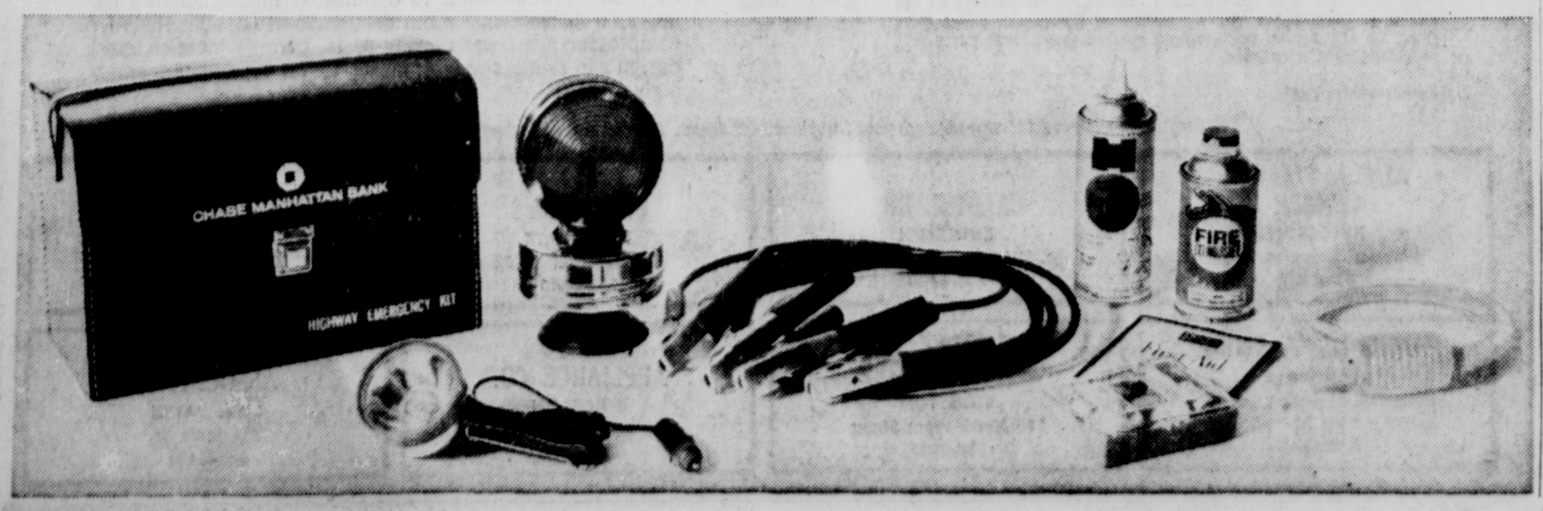

The banker did not laugh. Oh, he was friendly enough, but after all!

"There's only one problem," said the salesman. "I may not be able to pick out the car I want before June 30th."

So the banker told him that if he signed up now, Chase would reserve his car loan for 100 days at no charge. Not only would he get his free highway emergency kit as soon as the loan was approved, but he'd have plenty of time to shop around for a good deal on a new car. So the salesman signed, and left the bank convinced that this was the best car-loan deal he had ever experienced.

If you're a traveling salesman, doctor, painter or anybody looking for a practical, worthwhile free gift with your car loan, we hope this particular traveling salesman story will make you smile—all the way to our bank.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my father, Michael Amarello, who pased away one year ago today, May 10, 1972.

One long year has gone Dad,
Since we watched you laid to rest,
The only comforting thought we have
Is knowing now God has the best.
We love and miss you, Dad.

Town Justice Resigns Post In Shandaken

SHANDAKEN — Town Justice George Kirk has announced his resignation from that post, which he has held for many years, with the intention of running for the county legislature.

Kirk, a Republican justice in the Town of Shandaken, made known his intention at the Wednesday night meeting of the Town board.

The Towns of Shandaken and Woodstock are now apportioned together under the 1973 redistricting legislation.

The town board decided to wait until Supervisor Raymond Dunn has been released from the hospital before taking any action in naming a successor to Kirk.

In other business, the Shandaken Town Board passed its first dog ordinance following a public hearing. There was no opposition to the law expressed.

The law would make it unlawful for dogs in the town to roam unleased, except upon their owners property or unless they are hunting dogs under the control of their owner.

The Other Day

A fellow was going on a long hunting trip in the northern woods and set out to buy his equipment. In the sporting goods store he was studying a compass with a mirror on the back of it. He said to the clerk, "What in the world is the mirror for?" Clerk: "Oh, that's so you can look in it and tell who's lost." Well, any of us can get lost when we get outside our own specialty. But you can't get lost in our specialty if you will depend on us. And you'll enjoy wonderful service with top value!

Eastern Airlines Hires Woman Pilot

MIAMI (UPI) — Barbara J. Barrett, a 22-year-old brunette with 2,800 hours flying time and a college degree, has become the first woman pilot hired by Eastern Airlines.

An Eastern spokesman said Miss Barrett had passed her physical examination and would begin training Monday at Eastern's base here.

An Eastern spokesman said Miss Barrett had applied for a pilot's job two years ago, "but she didn't meet the height requirement and didn't have a college degree."

Since then, Eastern lowered its height requirement to five-foot-six and Miss Barrett received a degree from the University of New York at Buffalo.

She currently flies cargo for the Detroit-based "Zantop Airways."

Eastern said Miss Barrett, who will join the company's 4,000 male pilots, will be trained to fly either the turboprop Lockheed Electra or the Boeing 727 Trijet.

Marlboro Cowboy Dies,

KNOX CITY, Tex. (UPI) — Carl B. Bradley, who played the "Marlboro cowboy" in a national advertising campaign, was buried Wednesday in his West Texas home town. Bradley drowned with his horse in a pond in nearby Old Glory Monday. He was 33.

An inquest into the cause of the death was ordered, but witnesses said Bradley was trying to break a young horse for riding when the animal slipped on the edge of the pond and fell in. The horse apparently kicked Bradley on the way down.

Bradley was the wagon boss for the 6666 Ranch at Guthrie, Tex. The Marlboro cigarette commercials in which he portrayed a leather-tough cowboy on horseback were photographed on the ranch.

NEW MET OPERA MANAGER — Schuyler G. Chapin stands outside Metropolitan Opear House in New York after being named its new manager. His contract is for next three seasons. He has served as acting general manager since Goeran Gentele was killed in July, 1972 automobile accident. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Vassar Male Is Elected Stude nt Head

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (UPI) — Vassar College, a byword for women's education for more than a century, has a male student government president today.

Stephen J. Hueglin, 20, of Plandome, a junior, defeated Vicky Mills, 19, of Oklahoma City, by a three-to-two margin, and became the first male to hold the office.

A graduate of Manhattan High School and a political science major, Hueglin is a founder of the student radio station, WVKR.

Vassar, founded in 1859, became a coeducational college in 1968.

Anti-Trust Suit Testimony

IBM Official Contradicts Testimony

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A top official of International Business Machines Corp. Tuesday contradicted testimony given earlier in the $1.2 billion anti-trust suit by the Telex Corp. against IBM.

Francis G. Rodgers, director of marketing for IBM, also said he had never heard of two former employes who testified for Telex in the suit.

Rodgers said he had not heard of Richard A. Whitcomb or Berton M. Hochfeld, two former IBM employes. He said neither Whitcomb, with IBM for 16 years and now with Ital Corp. of San Francisco, nor Hochfeld, who was with IBM three years and now is with a New York stock brokerage firm, made product or price decisions.

He said Whitcomb had never made a statistical presentation before him concerning competition in the peripheral market.

Telex has alleged that IBM attempted to squeeze competing firms out of the market. IBM filed a countersuit for $25 million for alleged industrial espionage.

Rogers said IBM has competition from other computer systems, manufacturers, leasing companies which buy IBM equipment and lease it for less than IBM would charge, time sharing firms which sell computer use time, overseas competition and from peripheral market manufacturers.

He said IBM dropped its 30-day leasing plan to meet competition which had offered long term leases on units at lower rental fees.

He also said IBM brought out new computer systems "to keep IBM from being butchered by competitors." He referred to "peripherals who copy us after our product announcements and take advantage of our installations."

The Bar Mitzvah will chant the Prophetic Reading of the week, and will receive religious gifts from the Sisterhood, the Talmud Torah and the U.S.Y., his Bar Mitzvah Certificate from the congregation, and his Bar Mitzvah lesson from the rabbi. All worshippers may attend the Kiddush after the services.

Broadway East UDC Opening Is Delayed

KINGSTON

The opening of the New York State Urban Development Corporation's (UDC) 121-unit apartment complex in Broadway East has been delayed until Sept. 1, UDC officials told The Freeman today.

In February, UDC officials announced that the $4 million project would be open for occupancy on June 1. A rental office will be open on June 1 where applications will be taken for Sept. 1 occupancy. "It's just not ready," a UDC spokesman told The Freeman by way of explaining the delay.

Rental information, prior to June 1, can be obtained by writig Mrs. Harriet Feinman, DUSO Management Leasing, Box 785, South Fallsburg, N.Y. 12779.

There will be eight efficiency apartments, 20 one-bedroom apartments, 70 two-bedroom apartments and 23 three-bedroom apartments. Income determines eligibility.

Postal Registration Passes Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite administration opposition, a bill to allow every eligible voter in America to register by mail for federal elections has passed the Senate by a wide margin.

Breaking a month-long filibuster against it, the Senate Wednesday passed the measure, 57-37, and sent it on to the House where the Post Office Committee was busy putting together its own version of the proposal.

The bill would create a National Voter Registration Administration, which would send postcard-sized forms to every postal address in the nation.

Voters would mail the forms to their local registrars to qualify to vote in presidential and congressional elections.

Costs for mailing the forms and processing the returns—estimated at some $30 million—would be financed with federal funds.

In a related action, Senate Democrats unanimously voted in caucus for a resolution calling for immediate hearings on proposals to provide public financing of all federal elections and to appoint an independent prosecutor to enforce campaign financing laws.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., who offered the resolution, said:

"Public trust in our electoral process has hit absolute rock bottom. We need to take big private money out of electoral politics, and public financing is the only way to do that."

The postcard registration bill was seen by its backers as a means of by-passing archaic and restrictive local registration rules in order to bring in more voters — perhaps 40 million of the 62 million Americans who failed to register to vote last November.

The bill failed to pass the Senate last year and was opposed this year by the Nixon administration and by a bloc of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who fought the measure, said, "It would encourage registration of people who don't even exist . . . or are sleeping in cemeteries."

Supporters say Republicans don't like the bill because it would bring in large numbers of blue collar workers who tend to vote Democratic.

WILL RETIRE — Navy Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher who surrendered the spy ship USS Pueblo to the North Koreans, will retire from the service June 1, ending 22 years in uniform, the Navy said. Bucher, who with his crew spent 11 months as prisoners of the North Koreans in 1968, returned to Guam this week after serving as chief staff officer for the minesweeper force clearing American mines out of North Vietnamese waters. He is 45. (UPI)

WHITA Backs Uniform Pension Plan

KINGSTON — The We've Had It Taxpayers Association has officially backed a uniform pension plan for public employees in the state and opposed the proposed legislative pay hike.

At a Wednesday night meeting of the board of directors, a resolution expressing opposition to proposed salary increases for state legislators of $10,000 apiece and similar large raises for judicial system employees was unanimously passed.

And a second resolution expressing the hope that the legislature will approve a uniform pension plan for all state and municipal employees this session was also passed unanimously.

Alice Tipp, president of the WHITA board, urged all taxpayers concerned with these positions to write to their assemblymen and state senators.

An expected action on a change in WHITA by-laws to permit members to run for public office was not acted upon, but it is expected this matter will be dealt with at the next board meeting.

Franz Muller, a Town of Rosendale resident, addressed the board on "gross inequities in the property tax and assessment structure," according to Mrs. Tipp.

He cited some examples in the Town of Rosendale, which has an equalization rate of ten per cent, of what he termed inequitable assessment. Muller charged that: a $50,000-$75,000 home assessed at $1,200; a home valued at $30,000-$40,000 assessed at $1,300; and another valued at $30,000-$40,000 assessed at $1,000

The meeting was held at the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

State Approves City Water Department

KINGSTON — The Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Department of Health has notified the Kingston Water Department that it has again been approved as an interstate water supply carrier.

City Superintendent of Water Edmond T. Cloonan, pointed out that Kingston has been granted designation by the State for many years "due mainly to the organization and rigid standards of treatment adhered to at the filter plant and treatment plant." Cloonan cited Morris Nussbaum and his staff at the Zena plant for carrying out "a continuous series of intensive procedures to assure that the City of Kingston residents have available to them only the highest quality of palatable and potable water."

The state ruling deals primarily with water used by bus and rail facilities operating interstate.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened lower today amid indications that many business executives feel the booming economy may be running out of control.

Analysts said another factor weighing down the market was the start of crucial negotiations between the trucking industry and the Teamsters union.

They said a major market depressant was an April survey of 250 purchasing executives which showed they felt "all of the classic signs of a demand-pull inflation boom seem to be present."

The Dow Jones industrial average was fractionally lower and declining issues held a broad lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Active issues on the Big Board included Gulf Oil, down ⅜ to 25⅛ after announcing it planned to ration lead-free gas; AT&T, up ⅛ to 53⅞; and Genesco, off ¼ to 9.

On Wednesday, the Dow closed down 7.53 at 949.05, mainly because of adverse developments in the oil industry.

Two Seeking Red Hook Board Seat

RED HOOK — Two perosns have announced their intentions of seeking the seat up for grabs June 13 on the Red Hook Board of Education.

The incumbent, Francis Rabbett, former board president and member for ten years, has not yet indicated whether or not he will seek reelection.

The two challengers are Henry Van Parys, 12 Trow Blvd., Red Hook and Richard Barrett, Linden Avenue extension.

Van Parys, who has attended numerous board meetings over the past few years, has filed his petition to run. He is the father of three Red Hook students, and has stated that he would be in favor of more stimulating board meetings.

He was born and raised in western New York, and practiced farming and served in the U.S. Army. He has a B.A. from the University of Rochester, and has been an employee of IBM, Kingston since 1965 as an advisory programmer.

Barrett is a school psychologist with the Wallkill Central School District, and is a member of the Child Study Council of SUNY, New Paltz He is also on the advisory Council for School Psychology at St. John's University, New York City, where he is a Ph.D. candidate.

Alice Awaits Judgment on Bail Request

NEW YORK (AP) — Alice Crimmins, granted by an appeals panel the right to a new trial for manslaughter, remained imprisoned today as her lawyer prepared to request a reduction of the $25,000 bail set for her release.

The lawyer, Herbert Lyon, said the bail fixed Wednesday by State Supreme Court Justice William Brennan in Queens was too high and said he could not raise that amount.

Mrs. Crimmins, 34, has been serving a life term at the Bedford Hills, N.Y., state correctional facility since she was convicted two years ago in the deaths of her two young children.

FORSYTH CLEANUP—Mrs. Caroline Chuzi (extreme right), West Hurley Elementary School Librarian and advisor to the People Studying Pollution Club, and a group of West Hurley Elementary School students recently cleaned up the picnic section of Forsyth Park as one of their projects in the studying of pollution and its remedies in Ulster County. The City of Kingston cooperated by furnishing a truck. The club plans to clean up areas in Woodstock, West Hurley, and other parts of the Onteora School District.

Library Fair Is Planned

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Town of Ulster Library Board members have designated Saturday, June 16, as the date for the annual library fair.

This year's fair will feature the third Annual Outdoor Art and Craft Show with cash prizes being awarded. Chairman of the 1973 Fair, Mrs. O.L. Sande of Lake Katrine has announced Mrs. Marge Sainsbury of Halcyon Park is the chairman of the Art and Craft Show. Letters have gone out to past participants and already space is being taken by those wishing to enter.

To further enlarge the fair, antique dealers and collectors are being sought to show and sell their wares in unlimited space. Mrs. Richard Shaw of Forest Glen Park is chairman of this section, and is hoping for a good turnout of antique buffs the day of the fair.

Other chairmen named so far include, Books, Mrs. Bette Maxson; Bake Sale, Mrs. Louise Flood; Entertainment, Roy Freeman; Rummage, Mrs. Joan Langton; Fund Raiser, Joseph O'Brien.

Space for booths of all kinds is available, and persons interested may contact Mrs. Marion Burger, for cost and size. Residents are reminded to save all saleable merchandise for the Rummage and Attic Treasures Booths, books for the Book Sale, and volunteer their services for this one day event.

Mohonk Trust Celebrates First Decade

NEW PALTZ

The Mohonk Trust, a local organization which has grown to regional and even national importance, is celebrating its tenth anniversary with a summer-long schedule of special events.

The first program to mark this celebration will be held on Saturday, May 12, at 8:45 p.m., when Dr. William Jahoda will present his motion picture on Bermuda — Land and Sea.

Dr. Jahoda is an Audubon Screen Tour lecturer who, in 1951, was an Associate Professor of Biology at SUNY, New Paltz, and a charter member of the John Burroughs National History Society. He has left his professorship at Connecticut State College to devote full time to marine studies.

Dr. Jahoda's talk will stress the magnitude of the problems resulting from abusing the "boundless oceans" as dumping grounds and "catch-alls" for human and industrial wastes.

The public is cordially invited to attend this event, and may do so by taking a meal at the Mountain House, or by paying an admission fee.

'Hot Line' Gains Award

WEST HURLEY

"Hot Line," the student newspaper at the West Hurley Elementary School, was recently declared a winner in the National School Press Project, sponsored by the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

"Hot Line" has already been cited for local and statewide honors.

A special awards dinner will be held Thursday, May 17 at The Hedges in West Park. Co-editors Peter Antkowiak and Mary Fitzsimmons have been invited to attend and receive a special certificate of honor. Mrs. Erne Levins, principal of the West Hurley School and Mrs. Florence Epstein, the "Hot Line's" advisor, have also been invited to attend.

Certificate Is Presented

KINGSTON

A Golden Certificate from American Legion national headquarters was formally presented to Will Plank of Marlboro, a Veterans' Administration patient at the Hadler Nursing Home, Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Plank has been a Legion member for fifty-three years, first in Arkansas, then beginning in 1921, a member of the Charles W. Viebey Post 124 of Marlboro. After World War II this post's name was changed to Viebey-Sutton.

The group that took the certificate to Kingston was headed by Marlboro Commander Peter Conte. Legion Auxiliary members sent fruit and other edibles for the five veterans at the home.

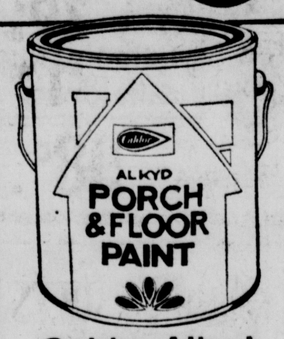

The Golden Certificate reads: "The American Legion Golden Certificate issued in grateful appreciation to William Plank who, by these presents, is certified to have been a continuous member of the American Legion for fifty or more years. By authority of Resolution No. 15, adopted by the National Executive Committee of The American Legion, at its meeting of May 3 and 4, 1972, and in accordance with official records on file at National Headquarters, 700 North Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, Indiana."

The certificate is signed by Joe L. Matthews, National Commander, and William F. Hauck, National Adjutant.

A POW Describes His Seven Years in Captivity

By MAJ. CHARLES BOYD
Written for UPI

My morale was at its lowest when the bombing of North Vietnam ended in 1968, but it reached the high point last December when President Nixon resumed bombing in earnest.

That was the highlight of all my seven years as a prisoner of war. I was ecstatic when I learned those B52s were rolling on Hanoi.

It was the beginning of the end.

After the first few months of captivity, life in prison was a matter of waiting, keeping my mind active and my body fit. In addition to the intellectual exercises of weekend "movies" and daily classes, I did pushups, kip-ups, ran in place, steps onto the bed and isometrics. At my low point I lost about 45 pounds, mostly due to the minimal diet.

After about nine months time as a POW, I realized I could survive mentally. I reached a state of indefiniteness and was prepared to wait 20 years if necessary.

Gradually I regained the use of my arms which had been injured those first two nights in the torture chamber. The numbness lingered for 11 months.

Medical help was nonexistent, or so superficial that it didn't matter. Fortunately I didn't sustain a major illness or injury during those seven years. I contracted beriberi at one point at a camp we called Briar Patch, 40 miles southwest of Hanoi, which resulted in permanent optical damage.

There was always a North Vietnamese in camp the guards called a doctor. But doctor in Vietnamese could be translated as a man who had considerably less knowledge of medicine than an Air Force corpsman. Almost any prisoner knew more than the "doctors" did about medicine, just from what we'd picked up at home.

Once a year or so a real doctor came to camp and looked at us. Medicine was dispensed sparingly. He might make a few recommendations about sanitation and let it go at that.

Some prisoners died in captivity for various reasons. Some, I suppose, were killed accidentally during torture. Those prisoners appeared healthy, yet they simply would disappear. When we were released those men were listed as dead by the North Vietnamese.

I've tried hard not to hate the Vietnamese because I don't want to spend the rest of my life in bitterness. Nothing can be gained from that emotion. I'd like to forget them. They aren't worthy of my attention.

Bad as they are, I have far more contempt for the likes of Jane Fonda and some other peaceniks. Fonda's broadcasts from Hanoi were the most disgusting acts of which I was aware throughout the war. I believe she and all the others of her ilk prolonged the war by their activity.

Yet the amazing aspect is the fact that some of these opinions would be newsworthy. I could understand it if a U.S. senator's antiwar opinion might be heard in some quarters. But some visitors were nothings; inarticulate, illogical, unintelligent, and apparently, completely without character. Even some grammar was worse than that of Tokyo Rose in World War II.

My greatest regret about imprisonment is that I was unable to contribute anything to our efforts in Southeast Asia for seven years.

I looked on POWs as a liability to the war effort, not an asset to our nation. The Vietnamese were keeping us alive solely to use us as their ace in the hole at negotiations. We were the tools or levers for them to exact their demands.

I felt that our government probably would make concessions in our behalf and therefore not get a settlement that was the most advantageous to the country as a whole.

I had mixed emotions, really. At one and the same time I was proud to know I was part of a nation that would never forget us, and yet somehow, I felt guilty for being a liability.

Nothing short of total collapse of the United States, I knew, would cause the country to abandon me. It was that faith in our country that kept us going. And I can't emphasize enough how much that meant to us. We knew that a mighty nation was standing behind us, and we realized it had more important things to do before it got around to bringing us home. But we knew we hadn't been forgotten.

We were made aware of this by the tremendous amount of military pressure against North Vietnam. Most of us had developed an acute perception, reading the progression of events by watching our captors.

Most of the time when the pressure was applied by our military, the North Vietnamese were being hurt—and we knew it. They vented their frustrations on us. Their reaction was hard on us.

But beginning in May of 1972, I detected a change in their behavior at the very time when our bombers were hurting them most. They began to take it easy on us. The pressure remained off and there were signs of improvement. Not much, but enough to indicate a change in the tides. Late that year, the prison allowed us to mingle with men from other cellblocks, which was highly irregular.

I interpreted this as an indication that the North Vietnamese suspected the war was drawing to a close. I felt we would soon be going home, though our release was still months away.

When the cease-fire agreements were signed those of us in the Hanoi Hilton were taken into a big courtyard where the North Vietnamese brass read the news to us.

I should have been more excited, I suppose, but I had been given a book of poetry a short time before and could only think of finding one of my friends, John Reynolds, to show him my prize.

We had been let down so often I couldn't grasp the idea that it was really happening. Here I was living one of the most dramatic moments of my life and all I could think of was this wonderful book.

I had probably reached the point of numbness concerning rumors about going home. Even so, I felt things were drawing to a close.

It was difficult to imagine a world with hot showers, being able to shave myself every day instead of in a courtyard with a blunt razor twice a week under the supervision of a guard.

Mine was a world confined to small victories over the enemy, but with setbacks, too. One was the November, 1970, Special Forces raid on my old prison, Camp Hope at Son Tay. The camp had been emptied of POWs months earlier. One of the most beautifully executed military operations in history was ironically unsuccessful.

I heard the news of the truce wearing black pajama-like garments and rubber tire sandals. I'd forgotten how it felt to wear clean, well-fitting clothes.

I'd put such other things as steak dinners out of my mind, along with thoughts of the good life. My cellmate, Smitty Harris (Capt. Carlyle S. Harris), and I once listed all the foods we disliked most and then put them together at an imaginary meal and thought how wonderful such a banquet would be.

But the concept of leaving Vietnam didn't sink in until I saw that loathesome North Vietnamese coast slipping under the C141 as we flew to Clark Air Base in the Philippines.

My last memory of North Vietnam is the picture of "The Rabbit" standing at a small transfer area at Gia Lam airport in Hanoi. He held a muster sheet and was calling off the names of the men he had tortured for years. He didn't look up as he called out our names.

I'm sure more than one POW would have liked to spend some time alone with "The Rabbit."

Mastersingers in Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK — The Mastersingers, under the direction of Daniel Hooper, will present a program of classical music May 12 in the Church of the Messiah Sanctuary, Rhinebeck.

The group, composed of 30 voices, was part of the Poughkeepsie Community Chorus and organized so members could do classical music that a larger chorus could not handle. They have performed solos at the many benefit concerts the Community Chorus has given throughout the county.

The Mastersingers have been variously known, since 1957, as "The Madrigals" and "The A Cappella Singers."

This concert is the fifth in the Diapason Series to raise funds for repairs on the Skinner Organ in the church. The program will begin at 8 p.m. and will include selections of Randall Thompson's "Peaceable Kingdom," Brahms' Motet, and five love songs and various popular tunes. A selection of piano duets will be performed by Virginia Swartz and Daniel Hooper.

Registration Days Set at Dutchess

POUGHKEEPSIE — June 18 and 19 have been set as registration dates for Dutchess Community College's 1973 summer session.

Area residents who wish to earn credit by study during the day or evening may register from 3-8 p.m. June 18 and from 3 - 6 p.m. June 19. All registration will take place in Falcon Hall.

A total of 110 courses will be offered at the Pendell Road campus, with 150 sections open for enrollment, according to Gary C. Pfiefer, director of the summer session.

Additional course work will be available at the college's satellite campuses at Castle Point, Harlem Valley, and Wassaic State School.

Regional Ballet Plans Musical

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company has announced plans for the annual benefit musical June 2 and 3 at Poughkeepsie High School auditorium.

The musical will be staged and produced by Estelle and Alfonso. The musical, "Ms. Mame," will be under the dramatic direction of Joseph Towers.

Choral arrangements will be scored by Charles Mack, while choreography will be executed by Estelle and Alfonso. Settings are being designed by Lloyd and Ruth Waldon.

Costuming will be handled by Show Styles, Universal Costumes Company, and Mrs. Frank Pearson. The Associate Members of the Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company will handle the backstage details, and Mrs. Heinz Eisele will be general coordinator.

A very large cast of dancers and singers has been planned for this unusual production, scheduled for a Saturday evening at 8 o'clock and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Reserved seats are available at 109 Cannon Street and general admission tickets may be purchased at several area stores or at the door.

Philosophy Professor Plans Address

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON — William E. Lansing, professor of philosophy, will deliver the baccalaureate address at 5 p.m. Bard College services May 20 in the Bard College Chapel.

Lansing was chosen by members of the graduating class as speaker. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Louisville, Ky. and did graduate work at Columbia University.

Deputy Chief Lists Report

WOODSTOCK — A total of 47 alarms for the first four months of the year, with 62 per cent of them occurring between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. when manpower is decidedly lacking, was revealed by the report of Deputy Chief James Burke of the Woodstock Fire Department.

Further statistics from Burke's report show that the average response time to an alarm for the department was one minute 48 seconds, and that a total of 960 man hours had been utilized in alarms this year by the volunteer firemen of the four Woodstock fire companies.

Fire Company No. 1 of the village answers all alarms for a total of 27 to date; Wittenberg company had 3 alarms, Lake Hill with 9 alarms, and Zena company had 9 alarms.

Local Library Acquires Machine

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Library has recently acquired a copying machine and offers the service at ten cents per page to members and patrons of the library. It will be available during regular library hours: Tuesday 10 to 12 a.m. and 1:30 to 5:30 p.m.; Wednesday 1:30 to 5:30 and 7 to 9 p.m.; Friday 1:30 to 6:00 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

New reference books include: Encyclopedia of Associations; Guide to Congress; Dictionary of Contemporary American Artists; The Official Museum Directory; A Guide to Graduate Study; Lovejoy's Career and Vocational School Guide.

Volunteers who regularly give their services to the library are: Mrs. Albert Borrelli; Mrs. Angus Craig Jr.; Mrs. Edmund Gilligan Jr.; Mrs. Anne Van Schuyler. Volunteers to help in book mending are needed.

For Children Only

FREE PRIZES The bald eagle, America's national symbol, is in trouble. Too many of these great birds are being shot, and they are also threatened in other ways. We need the help of elementary school children to spread the word to save the eagle. You can help by preparing a poster for our "Save the Eagle" Poster Contest.

First prize winners will receive a free $50 savings account. Second and third prize winners will receive prizes of $25 and $15 savings accounts respectively. And all participants will be awarded a free ticket to Catskill Game Farm. Ask Dad or Mom to pick up a copy of the contest rules now at any office of Hudson Valley Federal Savings.

Free "EAGLE" Brochure The endangerment of the bald eagle is a threat that concerns us all. Additional information about this situation, and how you can help*, is contained in a brochure, available at our offices. Drop in today for your free copy.

Kidnapings Becoming Common in Latin America

EDITOR'S NOTE: The kidnaping and release of the U.S. consul general in Guadalajara, Mexico, was the latest in a wave of political abductions in Latin America that began more than four years ago in Brazil. This dispatch from Argentina, where kidnaping has reached epidemic proportions this year, reviews the phenomenon that has made diplomatic service in Latin America a hazardous profession.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — On Sept. 4, 1969, anti-government guerrillas in Rio de Janeiro kidnaped the U.S. ambassador to Brazil, C. Burke Elbrick.

He was freed after the government released 15 prisoners, but his abduction set in motion a wave of political kidnaping in Latin America that is still growing in some countries.

The tactic of seizing an official for political gain spread to Guatemala, Mexico, Uruguay and Argentina. There also were isolated cases in the Dominican Republic, Columbia and Bolivia.

Common criminals, noting the reluctance of governments to risk the lives of those kidnaped, decided it was easier to snatch a wealthy victim for a cash ransom than rob a bank.

AP Special

Diplomats and businessmen have been the chief targets, and the ever-present threat has forced them to change their lives. Embassies have become fortresses with the diplomats under constant armed guard. Business houses have increased their security staffs and assigned bodyguards to their leading executives.

Some kidnapings go unreported to protect the victims' lives, but there have been more than 200 since 1969 in Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, Mexico and Guatemala.

It is estimated that a fourth of these were committed by anti-government guerrillas, generally leftists or anarchists.

Most of the victims were released unharmed after the kidnapers' conditions were met, but a dozen have been slain.

Nearly 150 so-called political prisoners have been set free and flown to Cuba, Algeria or Chile.

In Argentina alone, ransoms totaling $13 million have been paid in the past 12 months, including a record $1.7 million last month for a British tobacco executive.

Tough military measures in Brazil and Uruguay virtually have stamped out political kidnaping. The crime has also tapered off in Guatemala, but it continues simmering in Mexico and has skyrocketed in Argentina.

Argentine police registered six major abductions in 1970 and three in 1971. They jumped to 18 in 1972 and soared to 29 in the first four months of this year.

Dentists Study Acupuncture Use

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — American dentists are displaying much interest in the anesthetic use of acupuncture, the ancient oriental art of inserting needles into nerve centers of the body, says a business executive who saw the practice in mainland China and has become a believer in it.

Roy K. Andres, vice president for planning of Western Union International Inc., made the observation Sunday at the 105th annual meeting of the Dental Society of the State of New York, where he conducted an opening-day symposium.

About 3,000 persons are attending the four-day convention.

Andres, part of the team that established the communications satellite link in Peking for President Nixon's trip to China a year ago, said he has addressed numerous dental and oral-surgery groups in this country on the theory and practice of acupuncture.

"The dental profession has been extremely interested in Chinese medicine" and seems to have adopted a more open-minded policy than have physicians, he observed in an interview.

Besides deadening pain effectively, the acupuncture needles have side benefits in retarding loss of blood and not interfering with natural functions of the body, such as blood pressure and pulse rate, Andres said. Chinese dentists in recent years have relied increasingly on acupuncture rather than the anesthetic drugs also available to them, he said.

Earlier Sunday, the dental society's vice president told society district officers that a national crisis in health-care delivery still existed, despite what he called President Nixon's efforts to retrench on federal aid to medical and dental programs.

Dr. Emil W. Lentchner of Jamaica Estates said "the needs of the people for dental care remain vast" but many persons must forego treatment because they cannot afford it.

He told a reporter the dental society supported a national health insurance program, with the main proviso that persons who can afford to pay for their premiums do so. Government payment should be limited to welfare recipients and the "medically indigent" who work but have low incomes, he said.

Lentchner termed the state's medicaid program "a bureaucratic catastrophe" that has slashed its dental payment schedule despite steadily growing inflation and is often tardy in reimbursing dentists.

At a convention clinic today, Dr. Neal R. Fee of Plattsburgh said that the health and longevity of teeth depended importantly on correct chewing.

MARBLETOWN CLEAN-UP — Clean-up Week in Marbletown included the planting of eight maple trees at the Marbletown Elementary School by Boy Scouts of Stone Ridge Troop 16's "Eagle Project." Planting the trees, donated by Paul Gales, are Bruce Grupe and Douglas McCorkle. Clean-up week was sponsored by the township's Beautification Committee.

Committee Plans Drive

STONE RIDGE — The Marbletown Beautification Committee is conducting a fund raising campaign this spring to further its projects.

To help in the success of the campaign, letters have been sent to area residents detailing past accomplishments and future plans of the beautification committee.

Letter head and envelopes were designed by Arnold Saks, a resident of Stone Ridge and New York City. The sand-colored recycled paper has an imprint of a white oak in a dark hunter green. The design, paper and printing were contributed by Saks. His firm is well known in the graphic design field having produced award winning trademarks, annual reports and architectural graphic exhibits for some of the major corporations in American industry.

Contributions to the current fund drive will be used to preserve and plant new trees in the community. Through the efforts of the beautification committee, the Grange mini park was completed in 1972, many unsightly dead trees and stumps were removed and a clean-up campaign was carried out during this month.

Red Cross School Chairman Selected

KINGSTON — James Thompson, Chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, Red Cross has announced that Robert L. Carr, Field Representative for the New York State Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, has been named chairman of the five-day Red Cross Instructor training school in Aquatics at Silver Bay, Lake George beginning June 22.

Carr is a certified instructor trainer in small craft and water safety and is currently a volunteer consultant in water safety programs for the Eastern New York Division of Red Cross Chapters.

As a Red Cross volunteer water safety instructor, Carr has taught senior life saving, water safety and small craft instruction for the Albany Area Chapter for fifteen years. He has been a staff member at National Red Cross Aquatic Schools for the last 10 years and this year will be an instructor in canoeing at the National small craft school at Lake Chautauqua Lutheran Camp in Jamestown.

Carr has selected a full complement of qualified instructors for the aquatic school at Silver Bay which will cover all phases of water safety instruction, first aid small craft safety. Applicants must be at least 15 years old to enroll in the school.

The aquatic school is limited to 100 individuals and Thompson urged all interested persons to contact the local Red Cross Chapter at 21 O'Neil Street for more details and application forms.

The local Red Cross is a member of the United Way Agency.

Ulster County Sheriff Lists Monthly Report

KINGSTON — Ulster County Sheriff's deputies investigated 215 complaints during the month of April, according to the monthly report issued by Sheriff William B. Martin.

Of the complaints, 172 were closed by investigation, 14 were closed by arrest, and 29 cases remained open at the end of the month.

Deputies assisted 78 motorists, investigated 37 accidents, and made 16 vehicle and traffic arrests.

Ten misdemeanor warrants were executed during the month, and eight felony and 21 misdemeanor arrests were made.

Patrol cars covered a total of 28,464 miles during April.

Property recovered by deputies had a total value of $1,450.

Pistol permits issued during the month totaled 51, with 17 pistols registered, and 118 persons were fingerprinted.

The number of persons confined to Ulster County Jail as of the last day of the month totaled 65, with 62 men and 3 women confined. Jail population on the last day of March was 84. During the month there were 191 admissions and 210 discharges.

The average inmate population per day was 70, according to the Sheriff's report.

There were 6,127 total meals served at the jail to prisoners.

Trustee working hours totaled 1,890 during the month, representing a saving to the county of $3,780, Sheriff Martin reported.

Two Concerts at New Paltz Campus

NEW PALTZ — Two free concerts, one of early music by the newly formed Collegium Musicum and one by the college-community symphony orchestra, highlight the Music Department's calendar at the State University College at New Paltz for the week of May 13.

In addition, the department is participating that week in performances of comic operas by Giovanni Battista Pergolesi and Gian Carlo Menotti. A visiting professional group, the Dorian Quintet, will also perform.

The Collegium Musicum will perform music of the Middle Ages, the Renaissance and the Baroque period Sunday, May 13, at 8:30 p.m. in the Purple Lounge of the Student Union Building. In addition to very early works whose composers are unknown, the group will present music by Isaac, Holborne, Fischer, Corelli, Scarlatti, Telemann and Bach.

The New Paltz College-Community Symphony Orchestra will present its third and final concert of the season Monday, May 14, at 8:30 p.m. in McKenna Theatre.

The program will consist of Handel's Water Music, Haydn's Symphony No. 22 (The Philosopher), Telemann's Concerto for Solo Trumpet, Two Oboes and Strings, and the brilliant first movement of Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 5 (Emperor) with Claire Aebersold as soloist.

The orchestra's conductor will be Lance Premezzi, assistant professor of music at SUC New Paltz.

The event is made possible by grants from the college's Student Government Association and the New York State Council on the Arts.

PR Seminar Slated in June

STONE RIDGE — A seminar on public relations for community service organizations will be held at Ulster County Community College Tuesday, June 5.

There will be specialists in Public Relations representing the news media, the printing and reproduction industry, the field of advertising and public relations. The format for the seminar will be a panel presentation covering Public Relations Planning, Press, Radio and Television, Printing and Reproduction Techniques, and the use of other media such as bulletin boards, handouts, etc. After the panel discussion the participants will have the opportunity to meet with any of the specialists in attendance.

The seminar is co-sponsored by the Management Institute and the Department of Public Services at Ulster County Community College, the United Way, the Council of Social Service Agencies. The seminar will be held in the College Lounge, Vanderlyn Hall, at the Stone Ridge Campus. The time will be from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

There is no fee. The seminar is provided by Ulster County Community College to assist organizations that are providing a public service.

Advance registration is necessary. The Management Institute at the Colleg. or the United Way office may be contacted. Registration is limited to 60 attendees.

SAFETY PATROL MEDAL -- Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig (L) presents a distinguished service medal to Florie Boice (R), 13, of 24 President's Place, a student at Kingston Catholic Middle School, as Paul C. Petrillo, director of traffic and engineering safety for the Automobile Club of New York, looks on. The medal was awarded to the youth by the club for "exceptional alertness and attention to duty" in safeguarding fellow students at his school's crossings. The ceremony was part of a state-wide observance this week of School Safety Patrol Week proclaimed by Governor Rockefeller.

GUARD HONORED — Personnel at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue, Kingston, were honored recently by the American Cancer Society for support of the Ulster County Unit's Daffodil Days promotion in April. Mrs. Connie Fabbie, a Daffodil Days coordinator, presents the citation to Burt Giles, superintendent of the Armory, as Mrs. Elyse Caple, a Daffodil Days coordinator (L), and Captain James Fiore, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery (R), look on. Funds raised during the April Cancer Crusade are used for research, education, and service to cancer patients.

CLERGYMAN TESTIMONIAL — The Rev. James P. Veatch (standing, left) was guest of honor at a recent testimonial dinner of the Kingston Neighbors Housing Development Corporation. Shown with the guest of honor are (seated, left to right) Edward Ford, president; Mrs. Annie Jackson, vice president; and Miss Eileen Rider, secretary. Standing at right is Seymour Glass, treasurer. Mr. Veatch was honored for his "dedication, creative thinking, and initiative" on behalf of KNHDF. (Photo by Harold Van Allen)

NEW SERVICE — Gateway Industries of Kingston has expanded its services to include silk screening, in addition to packaging, electronics assembly, sewing, light machine work and mailing services. The first customer for the new service is the R. C. Ballard Corporation of High Falls. Shown from left to right are Ed Tick and Dick Ballard of the High Falls firm and Charles Weatherford, assistant executive director of Gateway Industries. The new service will be supervised by Mrs. Donna Schwab, a former art teacher. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Area Realtor Attends Seminar

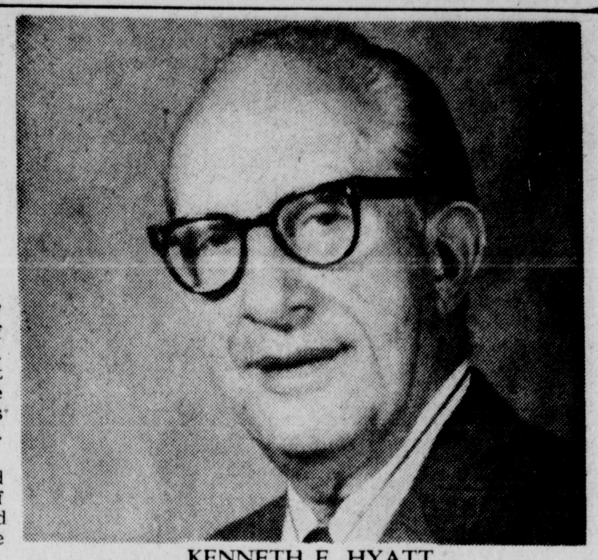

KINGSTON

Kenneth E. Hyatt of the Ulster County Board of Realtors recently attended the 30th annual seminar on Real Estate Board Administration, conducted by the executive officers committee of the National Association of Realtors, held April 29-May 4 at the Disney World Contemporary Resort Hotel near Orlando, Fla.

Keynote speaker was Dr. Anthony Downs, senior vice president of Real Estate Research Corporation, and a national authority on real estate planning.

Offering registrants an overview of 1973 programs of the National Association of Realtors were president J.D. Sawyer, first vice president Joseph Doherty, executive vice president H. Jackson Pontius and general counsel William D. North.

College professors and realtors conducted a variety of general and specialized workshop sessions at the seminar.

New Banking Brochure Explains Consumer Powers

Arguments for granting consumer loan powers to New York State's 119 savings banks — a measure now being considered by the New York State Legislature — are presented in a new brochure published by the Savings Banks Association of New York State.

Entitled "Why Not?" the six-page brochure utilizes a question and answer format to present its case for authorizing savings banks to provide their depositors with unsecured consumer loans, a service now forbidden to them by state law.

The brochure emphasizes that the consumer would be the major beneficiary if savings banks were empowered to make personal loans, by being able to get such a loan at lower cost and with greater convenience because there would be more such loans available. "More banks would be competing for your business . . . and this competition would tend to keep rates as low as possible and make loans easier to get."

Calling attention to the fact that savings banks now make more mortgage loans on homes in New York State than any other lender, the brochure contends that they would have even more money available for mortgages if granted consumer loan powers. It points out that while the money and interest of a long-term mortgage loan come back to the bank slowly, consumer loans are made for shorter periods of one to three years. "That means cash would be flowing through the bank much faster, and would be available again much sooner for mortgage loans or other purposes."

The brochure will be distributed to the public through the state's savings banks.

Caldor Promotion

NORWALK, CONN.

Bernard Scheiner, of Hastings-on-Hudson has been promoted to merchandise manager of domestics, draperies and piece goods by Caldor, Inc., a leading regional discount department store chain.

Jack Heilpern, general merchandising manager for soft lines, said Scheiner's promotion recognizes the growing importance of soft goods in the chain and will help sustain the Caldor reputation for quality and depth of selection in domestics and draperies.

Prior to joining Caldor in May, 1971 as domestics buyer, Scheiner had been a domestics merchandise manager at S. Klein for eight years. He also had extensive experience in domestics in his own business.

He has a B.A. from New York University and is active in religious and educational activities in his home community. He and wife, Shalita, have three teenage children.

JAMES V. RICHARDS

Former Area Resident Retires for Plant

A former Kingston area resident who recently retired after 50 years of service with Bemis Co., Inc., Buffalo, has selected the Morgan Hill section in Stony Hollow for his permanent residence.

Richards, who retired January 1 as manager of the Buffalo plant for Bemis, has been serving as a consultant in the company's plant in St. Louis, Mo. He was honored at a luncheon recently at the Buffalo plant.

Paying honor to Richards were employes of the Buffalo plant, customers and representatives of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, as well as three Bemis company executives: Judson Bemis, chairman and chief executive officer; George W. Finlay, packaging group vice-president and director of operations and Alton L. Meyer, packaging group vice-president and general manager, specialty products division.

Richards, a Brooklyn native, joined Bemis at its former Brooklyn plant in 1923, was named manager's assistant in 1941 and plant manager in 1953. He was named manager of the Brooklyn sales division in 1956.

The retired Buffalo official served as a loan executive to the Business Defense Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce in 1961. From 1962 to 1964, he was president of Rose Ribbon and Carbon Mfg. Co., Inc., a Bemis subsidiary. He was named manager of the Bemis plant in Buffalo in 1964.

Richards and his wife are now at their Morgan Hill residence.

Council Has Exhaust Test

A free auto exhaust testing service, sponsored by the Catskill Region Clean Air Council, will be held at the Kingston Plaza parking lot near the Sears store from 9:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. on Friday, May 11. The Council notes that cars found to be emitting excessive pollutants usually require only minor adjustments and that these repairs improve gasoline mileage as well as reducing pollution.

Subsidy Bill Is High For Shipping Grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers are spending between $50,000 and $100,000 a day in subsidies for at least 20 huge tankers waiting in U.S. ports, often for weeks, to be loaded with wheat and corn for the Soviet Union.

And even larger subsidies will be paid while the ships are at sea, an Associated Press survey shows.

In all, government officials say, 83 U.S.-owned ships have qualified for the special subsidies to haul grain to the Soviet Union.

"We don't know what the total subsidy bill will be," says R.A. Coonin, a spokesman for the Federal Maritime Administration. "Any figure I give you now would be understated."

Coonin said in an interview the waiting time in ports is "of growing concern" and that efforts are being made by the government, the shipping industry and the grain trade to speed schedules.

Meanwhile, he admitted, it still is common for ships to wait for weeks at Gulf ports, where most of the grain is loaded. In all, he said, the total time involving federal subsidies, including actual shipping and return, is commonly 60 to 90 days.

The subsidies vary according to size of ship and cost factors. While at sea the subsidy rate usually is $500 to $1,000 per day more than when the ships are in port waiting to take on grain.

Few of the larger tankers reportedly qualify for subsidies in excess of $10,000 at sea. Officials say most receive less.

The subsidies are paid so that U.S. ships, much more expensive to use than foreign vessels, can haul part of the $1 billion worth of wheat, corn and soybeans sold to Russia last year.

The ships—nearly all tankers—begin earning subsidies as soon as they reach the port where they take on grain.

An example is the Gulf Queen, a tanker with a capacity of 35,000 tons. Many are larger. At least two U.S.-owned tankers used for grain hauling since the subsidy arrangement began last October are in the 70,000-ton class.

According to Maritime Administration officials, the Gulf Queen arrived in Port Arthur, Tex., on March 12. For nearly seven weeks, at a federal subsidy estimated at $4,200 per day, the ship stood idly by while others took their turns at elevator grain-loading spouts.

Finally, on April 24, the Gulf Queen sailed for a Soviet port on the Black Sea with 32,500 tons of grain. While making the round-trip voyage—estimated at about 20 days "sea time" each way—the Gulf Queen will draw approximately $4,800 a day in federal subsidies for her owners, identified by the Maritime Administration as Blackships, Inc., a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., New York.

The ocean-freight subsidies involving grain sold to the Soviet Union last year—some 19 million tons of wheat, feed grain and soybeans—are part of an arrangement worked out with Moscow so that U.S.-owned ships could participate in the unprecedented shipments.

Basically, the situation is this: ships owned by foreign countries cost less to construct, operate and staff with people. Vessels suitable for grain cargoes owned by U.S. firms are mostly tankers and are much more expensive to use.

Public Relations A Big Business

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Public relations is a big business for the nation's two most populous states.

Such spending in California and New York illustrates the size to which state public relations can grow.

In New York, taxpayers support a $4.25-million-a-year public relations operation; Californians pay out millions that go into a daily cascade of press releases, pamphlets, books on state government, tourist brochures, state agency reports and for the salaries of hundreds of persons responsible for producing this information.

The taxpayer's dollar also contributes to a certain amount of image-polishing by state bureaucrats and politicians.

Although accurate figures are hard to come by, it is estimated that New York has about 300 employes working full time in public relations. California has about 120 working for state agencies, and considerably more if one counts aides to the state's 120 legislators and Gov. Ronald Reagan's eight-member public information staff.

Salaries for these people in California range from the $10,608 paid a beginning PIO, to the $28,875 a year earned by Reagan's press secretary Ed Gray.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's public relations staff costs $555,000 annually in salaries and other expenses, according to the Budget Division.

The $4.25 million spent on all public relations in New York State represents slightly more than one-tenth of one per cent of the $3.5 billion annual state operating budget.

California officials said they could not say how much money is spent on PIO work, but state Capitol reporters estimate the figure at about $2 million annually.

"Public information is so difficult to label," said A. Alan Post, the California Legislature's nonpartisan fiscal adviser. "It's so difficult to extract. We were unable to put on any kind of meaningful price tag. We finally threw up our hands."

The output of the PIOs is impressive. For example, during a typical 2½-hour period at California's state Capitol at Sacramento, 18 press releases were tossed into the "in" basket of The Associated Press' bureau there — about one every eight minutes.

The state operates its own printing plant, which did $18 million worth of work last year, including $6.34 million for textbooks, $6.6 million for state agencies and $3.9 million for the legislature.

Among its products is a free, full color 24-page brochure on "California — The Golden State," and other full color pamphlets on the legislature, as well as a hardbound "Blue Book" on state government published every four years.

State agencies, independent boards, legislative committees and the governor's office issue a stream of annual or monthly reports, usually mimeographed on colored paper and ranging into the hundreds of pages. Capitol reporters estimate they get such reports on an average of once a day.

State lawmakers are entitled to taxpayer-paid "informational mailings" to constituents. The 80 assembly members get three a year, and the 40 senators are allotted 15 cents per registered voter, which usually boils down to two mailings a year.

Buried deep in the Capitol at Sacramento is a small television studio where a lawmaker can appear in front of a huge blowup of the domed Capitol building and make a film clip for home district television stations, if he wants to hire a cameraman. There are also facilities for preparing tapes for home town radio stations.

Figures on the publicity expenditures of the New York Legislature are not available from any official source, but an examination of payroll records indicates the cost for the Assembly and Senate approaches $500,000 annually.

The next largest state public elations operation is the $296,000 a year apparatus of the Department of Environmental Conservation.

What is the purpose of the enormous publicity apparatus?

The official answer is that it serves to let the people know what their state government is doing.

The public relations operation does make large amounts of information available to the public and the media. But there is a tendency, in the view of many reporters, for the government apparatus to portray all decisions as bold and decisive and to give as little publicity as possible to actions likely to arouse public ire.

Meeting to Discuss Alumni Association

All former students at Ulster County Community College are urged to attend an open meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 24, relative to forming an Alumni Association, according to Keith Jordan, chairman of a temporary Steering Committee.

The meeting will be held in the Faculty Dining Room in Vanderlyn Hall.

Jordan, a Kingston resident, says he feels an Alumni Association will give former students an opportunity to renew their involvement with the College.

"We feel there are many former Ulster students interested in forming an Alumni Association," he said, "and we hope they will attend the May 24 meeting to assist us in this worthwhile project."

Anyone who attended the College is considered an alumnus and welcome at the meeting. "We're anxious to get out as many former students as possible to get a broader view regarding an Alumni Association," Jordan said.

He added that he feels alumni members can help to advise the College on the kind of services to offer and assist in developing a community college to meet today's challenge of higher education for Ulster County.

The Collegle can in turn set up beneficial activiites and programs that would assist the alumnus. What alumni do to help Ulster may in turn benefit their children in future years.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Saugerties Woman's Club Submits Annual Report

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS—Leadership of the Woman's Club of Saugerties passed from past president Mrs. Edward Jabs (L-R) to incoming president, Mrs. Bernice Rusczyk, at ceremonies conducted Saturday, May 5, in the Sawyerkill Country Club in Saugerties. Mrs. Joseph Kramer, second from right, is the new club secretary and Mrs. Walter Stolte, at right, is treasurer. Absent was Vice President Mrs. Joseph LaSusa. Installation ceremonies preceded the luncheon and fashion show, "To Summer With Love." (Powell photo)

The annual report of President Mrs. Edward Jabs of the Woman's Club of Saugerties outlines the many activities of the club for the 1972-73 club year.

The 1972-73 club year was a most active one for the Woman's Club of Saugerties. The events of the club were varied, but special emphasis was placed on service, civic, and cultural endeavors. However, members and guests did enjoy several purely social events during the year.

In June 1972 the Woman's Club awarded two scholarships. Miss Diane Adam was the recipient of the Ruth Gustin Memorial Scholarship and Larry Scacciaferro was awarded a scholarship in memory of Marilyn Ashmore. In June the Social Committee hosted the Second Annual Women's Fraternal Week Tea at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The Education Department started the new club year with an original production, "The Saga of Samantha." Also in September, the Literature and Music Department began book reviews and a book sharing project in conjunction with the Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center. The Legislative Committee distributed a newsletter and we began collecting Betty Crocker coupons for the state logopedics program.

Another successful Outdoor Art Show was sponsored in October by the Art Department as our participation in the Annual Chrysanthemum Festival. Members of the Woman's Club judged the annual Jaycee Halloween Window Painting Contest and we sent delegates to the Third District Meeting at Schraffts in Albany. Dr. Milton Chasin presented a program on Children with Learning Disabilities.

November was another busy month for the Woman's Club. The Membership Committee held a most successful Cider and Doughnuts Membership Party. The Literature and Music Department began its typing for the blind project in conjunction with the Columbiettes. The first of several stationery sales was held by the Ways and Means Committee who also sponsored a successful Bring and Buy Auction. Mrs. Terry Carlisle presented a talk and exhibit of weaving of the late Berta Frye, compliments of the Art Department. Collecting for the New York State Federation Seeing Eye Dog project also began.

In December the club again reaffirmed sponsorship of Senior Girl Scout Troop 152. The Ways and Means Committee held a successful rummage sale and a family was adopted through the Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center. At Christmas food and gifts were collected for a Christmas basket for the club's adopted family. At the Christmas meeting, the women sampled Christmas desserts and saw a display of antique jewelry owned by Mrs. H. H. Cutler. Also at that meeting Mrs. Harold Baldridge read an original Christmas story written by Mrs. Cutler.

Guest speaker for January was Mrs. Shirley Kobran who spoke about our environment and ecology. The Conservation Department presented this meeting.

In February the Legislative Committee began work on Constitutional and By-Laws revisions and the Home Department held a meeting at the Precious Pot. The Social Committee held another fantastic Valentine Dinner Dance and the Ways and Means Committee conducted a special holiday fund raiser. The Home Department presented Mrs. Joyce Orser who spoke to the general membership on "Journey Into the Unknown."

James Haviland, Public Relations Director at Ulster County Community College, was guest speaker in March. His program on Castles and Mansions in the Hudson Valley was arranged by the Literature and Music Department. Sale of the General Federation Commemorative Plates was started and a student from Saugerties High School entered the Ada Y. Franklin Scholarship Contest.

In April the Art Department held a workshop on crewel at The Spinning Wheel and the Legislative Committee prepared another newsletter. Collecting for an Easter food basket for our adopted family was coordinated by the Community Affairs Department. At the annual meeting, "On Their Own," a movie on the selection and training of seeing eye dogs was shown. The Marist College Children's Theatre production was a musical adaptation of Pinocchio.

Several other projects in this club year included the Conservation Department poster contest with the theme "Keep America Beautiful," in April, a rummage and bake sale in May and the Installation Luncheon and Fashion Show at the Sawyerkill. Delegates attended the Ulster County Luncheon at Liguori's in Rosendale. In June a Memorial Scholarship winner will be selected from the graduating class of Saugerties High School. The constant efforts of the Hospitality and Publicity Committees contributed to the success of all club events.

It is Mrs. Jabs's hope that the Woman's Club will continue to serve as one of the major women's service organizations as it is one of the few clubs whose membership is open to every woman in the area.

Kingston AAUW Plans 1973-74 Events

The regular meeting of the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held at the Bonanza Branch of the Heritage Savings Bank, Ulster Avenue Mall, 9W, North, Kingston, Tuesday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Paul H. Johnson will preside.

Hostesses will be Mrs. David Dibble, Miss Betty Barthel and Mrs. Edna Vickers. This will be a planning meeting for next year's program.

Mrs. Arling Kalleberg, implementation chairman, and Mrs. Fritz Fiedler, second vice-president, have been responsible for program for the past two years and are busy with preparations for group discussions of the topics at this meeting. Four topics have been suggested for study. These will be explored at Round Table Discussions: Woman: Searching for Self; Dynamic Learning — Releasing Human Potential; Communications; Global Interdependence.

Mrs. Thomas Sherk and Mrs. James Babb were the Kingston delegates to the two-day state conference in Binghamton, May 4 and 5.

PREP met at the home of Mrs. Daniel Van Wagenen, Monday, May 7, at 8 p.m. The Rev. George Baker, chaplain at the Ulster County Jail, was the keynote speaker.

The Child Abuse Study Group with Mrs. Edna Vickers, chairman, is busy complishments, writing reports and letters and making plans to continue the work in the fall.

Tuesday, May 29, is the date for the final meeting of the Bridge Group until next fall. Mrs. Robert Ellsworth, Woodstock, will entertain them in her home at 7:30 p.m.

The next and final spring meeting will be the picnic at Mrs. Frieda Dingee's summer home at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 12.

The American Association of University Women, founded in 1882, is open to all women who hold baccalaureate or a higher degree from a college or university on the AAUW list of qualified institutions. Membership in the AAUW enables women to continue their intellectual growth, to further the advancement of women and to discharge their special responsibilities to society. For information on membership, contact the membership chairman, Mrs. Richard Muller, Woodstock.

Fashions, Cards Dessert Party

A Fashion Show, Card and Dessert Party, will highlight the festivities of the Northern Dutchess Hospital Auxiliary, to be held Wednesday, May 16, 7:30 p.m., at the Church of Messiah Hall, Rhinebeck. The event is open to the public. Fashion show will be given by Danish Design Center of Poughkeepsie, which will bring its own models along for the showing. There will be a small admission charge which will go toward furthering the work of the Auxiliary, as it fulfills its $35,000 pledge to the hospital.

The Northern Dutchess Hospital Auxiliary consists of 148 members who meet monthly, and includes units from five communities: Rhinebeck, Rhinecliff, Pine Plains, Red Hook and Hyde Park. Of the $35,000 pledged, $15,000 is used to finance the hospital gift shop, and $20,000 has been allocated to the dedication of four bedrooms in the Extended Care Facility of the Hospital. Auxiliary membership is open to the public.

Those wishing to attend the Fashion Show and Dessert party, should make reservations with Mrs. Lee Sampson in Staatsburg or Red Hook.

Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

19th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weygant of Route 1, Box 186, Flatbush Road, Kingston, will celebrate their 19th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, May 16.

Nicky Seegar in Concert Friday at Millbrook School

The Hudson Valley Mount Holyoke Club is presenting Nicky Seeger, in concert on Friday at 8 p.m. at the Millbrook Central High School.

Singer - songwriter, Nicky Seeger, living in Chelsea, N.Y., has been singing at colleges, coffee houses, and camps throughout the East coast. At present he is also giving many in-school concerts (kindgarten through twelfth grade) in Dutchess County. With his background in folk, rock, jazz and classical music, Nicky Seeger is able to perform folk songs from all over the world and to show our own rich folk heritage — a lesson in sociology as well as music.

The proceeds from this concert will be donated to the Mount Holyoke College Alumnae Scholar Fund which provides scholarships to Mount Holyoke students. Tickets will be available at the door or they may be obtained by contacting Mrs. John E. Glennon, Millbrook, president of the Hudson Valley Mount Holyoke Club.

PAW Benefit Performance Set

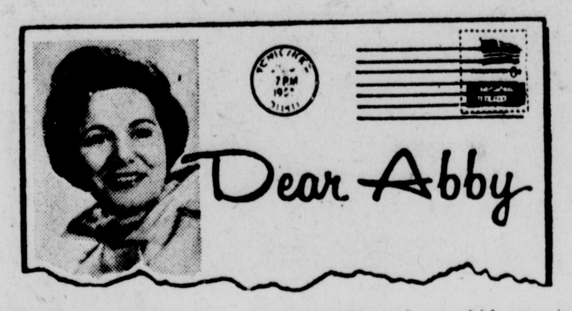

The opening night of Performing Arts of Woodstock's current production of Dylan Thomas' Under Milk Wood will be a benefit performance for the American Cancer Society. The play, Thomas' poetic masterpiece completed just before his tragic death, shows the lives of the people in a small Welsh fishing village from pre-dawn dreams, through the day and into another night. Filled with magnificently rich language and delightful and very human characters, Under Milk Wood is at once warm and hilarious, bawdy and tender. Performances are all at Woodstock Town Hall, Tinker Street, the evenings of May 11, 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20. Curtain time is 8:30 Fridays and Saturdays, 8 p.m. Sundays. Matinee performances will be given Sundays at 2:30.

The cast of six actors portrays the more than 30 roles of the villagers — "farmer, fisher, tradesmen and pensioners, cobbler, schoolteacher, postman and publican, the undertaker and the fancy woman, drunkard, dressmaker, preacher, policeman, the web-foot cocklewomen and the tidy wives." The dreams and joys and troubles of this varied lot draw the audience into an atmosphere of warmth, intimacy, and much, much laughter. The cast includes Donna Albright, Garet Church, John LeFever, Joe O'Shaughnessy, Mary Prevo, and Mary White. The two narrators' roles are played by Steve and Julia Callahan.

Don't miss the opening night benefit performance, where you can have the double pleasure of an evening of theatre and the opportunity to help a worthy cause. For reservations call Julia Callahan, Schuler Lane, Lake Katrine.

Don't Take Vote to Evade Responsibility

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been a very sick woman for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year, or die tomorrow. Half the time she doesn't even know me.

My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. My question: Should we go? I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home.

I've asked our minister and he said we should go — but not too far. I've asked my mother in law, and she said we shouldn't go at all. My best friend, who's a registered nurse, said we should go and take our chances. The doctor refuses to give me a yes or no. My husband says it's up to me.

What do you say, Abby?

HAVE A PROBLEM

DEAR HAVE: You have another problem: You want someome else to make the decision and accept the responsibility for it. So far you've polled the doctor, your minister, your mother in law, your best friend, your husband — and now me. Make your own decision, and accept full responsibility for it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have been going around with this man for 6 years. At one time we talked of marriage, but he asked that we postpone it because his mother was going thru a divorce and he was quite upset about it.

Now, he tells me he thinks he is also in love with someone he met at work. He says he has never gone out with her, but they've had coffee a few times.

I love this man and want to marry him, but I can't think clearly now. How do you figure this?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I figure that 6½ years is long enough for him to make up his mind about marrying you. And if he could fall in love with a girl he's only had coffee with a few times, I'd like to know what kind of coffee it was. Tell him to get lost before he tells you to, which is probably what he has in mind.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old college student. I'm also an alcoholic.

I just want to let kids know that they don't have to be over 30 and on skid row to qualify as an alcoholic. Alcoholism is a disease that makes no distinctions in a person's age.

If teen-agers or young adults think they have a drinking problem and want to help themselves, please tell them to contact Alcoholics Anonymous. It is a wonderful organization of marvelous, understanding people who try to help each other.

Since I became a member two years ago it has helped me tremendously. Not only am I sober, I have been able to help others. It has been a lifesaving experience for me. Thank you for letting me share this.

YOUNG ALCOHOLIC

DEAR YOUNG: And thanks for wanting to.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Today when so many marriages are going sour, may I tell you about one which was sweet for almost 63 years?

I married a wonderful girl in April, 1910. She was 5 years my senior. We had five children who bore us 27 grandchildren. They in turn bore us 10 great-grandchildren — all doing well.

My beloved died last December. I have her engagement and wedding rings and don't know what to do with them. Would it be prudent to sell them and give the money to the orphans? Your reply would be appreciated.

A READER: TEMPLE, ARIZ.

DEAR READER: Someone in your family may place a high sentimental value on the rings your beloved wore for so many years. Don't sell them before letting your family know you want to dispose of them. if more than one wants them let them draw lots. And lots of luck.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Dick Steele Is Guest Caller for Lefooters

The Lefooters Square Dance Club announces the appearance of Dick Steele as guest caller for the club's regular Friday night dance to be held on May 11. The dance will start at 8 p.m. at the Hurley Reformed Church hall off Route 209. All club level dancers are invited to attend.

Dick Steele, who hails from Lexington, Mass., was first exposed to square dancing in the late 1940's at a hotel resort in Maine where he was working on a summer vacation, his regular job being a physical education and science instructor in the Quincy (Mass.) school system. His first try at calling was for one of his junior high physical education classes. He went from this to "one night stands" working with a three-piece band. This led to a purchase of some sound equipment and the start of beginning square dance classes in Lexington.

Steele currently calls regularly for two clubs, the Minute Men of Lexington and the Rocketeers of Andover, Mass. He has served as president of the Old Colony Callers Association and has attended and called at seven Atlantic and New England Square Dance Conventions.

The club is looking forward to welcoming him to the Hudson Valley.

Abstract Painter to Speak to Art Group

Modern abstract painter, Check Boterf, will be guest speaker at the Friday, May 18, meeting of Dutchess County Art Association. His topic will be "The Shaped Canvas." Boterf will discuss this new approach and augment his talk with slides of his work. The presentation at Mitchell Furniture Company, 389 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, will begin with coffee at 7:30 p.m. The meeting at 8 o'clock is open to the public.

Born in Ft. Scott, Kan., Boterf received a BA degree in Psychology from Kansas University. He attended Hunter College and the Art Students League, and was awarded his MFA degree in Painting from Columbia University.

For the 1973-74 school year, Boterf was appointed visiting associate Professor of Fine Arts at Rice University, Houston, Tex. He has also taught design, drawing and painting at Hunter College and Brooklyn Museum.

He and his wife and two children reside in New York City.

Boterf has been represented in many shows throughout the United States. His works are included in many major public and corporate collections including the Museum of Modern Art, Columbia University, Fordham University, Chase Manhattan Bank in New York, and elsewhere throughout the U.S.

Hilton Kramer of the New York Times had this to say in part about Boterf: "Slowly, but with an unmistakable authority, the so-called shaped canvas is emerging as one of the salient visual genres of the 1960s — Mr. Boterf has established himself in the front rank of those working in this new genre."

Bar Mitzvah Set For Mark Parnett

OPEN EVERY NIGHT 'TIL 9:30

UNDER EACH GOLDEN CROWN, these individual souffles feature the flavor of Cheddar, Swiss and Parmesan cheeses plus a delicious seafood or vegetable choice for a nutritious luncheon treat.

Mom Stops in for Lunch . . . Surprise!

Now that you're on your own, the inevitable will happen any weekend now. Mother will be out shopping on a Saturday afternoon and — "Surprise, honey" — stop in for lunch at your new apartment. She really expects to be treated to a peanut butter 'n' jelly sandwich but you can turn the tables on her tastebuds with these petite souffles.

Since souffle creation is nothing more than careful attention to directions, read the recipe carefully and follow it faithfully — and of course, practice at your leisure. Some night when you're feeling creative, you could make five little souffles then freeze them for unexpected occasions.

When Mother arrives just pop the frozen souffles in the oven right before her astonished eyes. Then help her to her seat at the table while the two souffles rise to golden perfection . . . and serve immediately.

Each triple-cheese souffle is worth its weight in protein. The combination of Cheddar, Swiss and Parmesan cheeses plus milk and eggs will have Mother convinced in one bite that her daughter is eating the most nourishing of lunches. And these light and fluffy souffles are simply delicious. The nutty flavor of Swiss, sharpness of Cheddar and Parmesan complements your choice of poultry, seafood, spinach or broccoli flavors.

Balance the meal with a luscious fresh lettuce, tomato and cucumber salad, a basket of hot rolls and pats of butter, and glasses of milk, the deliciously cool lunch-time beverage. An elegant meal deserves a gracious setting so dress it up with your pretty china and perhaps a linen table cloth, too.

Individual Three-Cheese Souffle

Grated Parmesan cheese.
One-quarter cup (one-half stick) butter.
One-quarter cup all-purpose flour.
One-quarter teaspoon salt.
Dash of cayenne pepper.
One cup milk.
One cup (four ozs.) shredded Cheddar cheese.
One cup (four ozs.) shredded Swiss cheese.
One-quarter cup grated Parmesan cheese.
Six egg yolks, slightly beaten.
Six egg whites.
One-quarter teaspoon cream of tartar.
Sprinkle enough Parmesan cheese in five well-buttered ten-oz. souffle dishes to coat bottom and sides evenly; remove any excess. In one and one-half-quart saucepan melt butter; blend in flour, salt and cayenne pepper. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir one minute. Remove from heat and stir in cheeses until melted. If necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheeses. (Do not boil.) Blend a little of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to saucepan and blend thoroughly. Transfer sauce to large bowl. In a small mixing bowl beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold egg whites into cheese sauce. Turn mixture into souffle dishes, filling three-quarters full. For a variation, fill three souffle dished three-quarters full with cheese mixture. Add approximately one-third cup chopped cooked poultry or seafood or chopped, cooked, well-drained broccoli or spinach to the remaining mixture and fill two other souffle dishes three-quarters full. For immediate service, bake one or more souffles in preheated 350 degree oven 30-35 minutes. Serve immediately. Carefully wrap remaining unbaked souffles in freezer wrap and freeze up to one month. To bake frozen souffle, unwrap and place directly from freezer into preheated 300 degree oven for about one hour and ten minutes. Yield: five servings.

Note: When using extra large eggs, mixture will be sufficient for six individual souffles.

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker

Casserole recipes, especially those that contain vegetables, are almost always well received. This recipe can be used for a luncheon dish or as a main course for dinner, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

BAKED SPINACH— GOURMET STYLE

(makes six servings)

Two tablespoons finely chopped onions.
Three tablespoons butter or margarine.
Three tablespoons flour.
One and one-half teaspoons salt.
One-quarter teaspoon pepper.
One-eighth teaspoon nutmeg.
Paprika.
Two cups milk.
Two — ten oz. packages frozen chopped spinach, cooked and drained.
Three hard cooked eggs, chopped finely.
One-half cup corn flake crumbs.
One-half cup grated cheddar cheese.
Two tablespoons butter or margarine, melted.

Cook the onions in butter until they are transparent. Then stir in flour, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture thickens, stirring occasionally.

Fold in spinach and eggs. Spread this mixture into a greased shallow baking dish.

In a separate bowl, combine the corn flake crumbs with the cheddar cheese and butter. Spread evenly over spinach. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes or until lightly browned.

THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME

Rice in a different shape? To many people this may be an "out of the question" proposal. But to those of us who do the food shopping it may be a reality in the future.

Instead of the usual oval shape, rice may soon be found on our grocers shelves shaped like squares, circles, triangles, or maybe even stars. This new frozen rice product is called Rice Shapes, and it is being created by scientists of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service. Not only does this product come in a variety of shapes, but it can also take on a variety of tastes. This will be done by the addition of spices, bellpeppers, onions, tomato paste, ground potato or bean flakes. It is billed as being "tasty enough to be eaten as a snack", and can be served as the carbohydrate portion of a balanced meal. It may also be a partial meat substitute when soy flour or other protein supplements are added to increase the product's protein content.

Preparation, you will be happy to know, will be sinple. The combination of interesting shapes, flavors, and nutrition can be baked in your oven much like French fries. Or you can deep fry them, or skewer them for a rice-ka-bob. No market date for frozen Rice Shapes is yet available.

RVHS Sophomores Plan Dance, Biology Trip

The Sophomore class of Rondout Valley High School will sponsor a dance on Friday from 8 to 11 p.m. Music will be provided by a top local band. Light refreshments will be available for the Rondout High School students and their guests.

Many of the sophomores will be leaving at 7:15 a.m. the following morning for a week-end camping trip to Hammonasset Beach in Connecticut. The trip is a related function of Mrs. Sandra Schirmer's Biology classes and is designed to acquaint the students with a wider appreciation of shore life ecology. The students will also visit the Mystic seaport.

Chaperons for the trip will be Mr. and Mrs. Lee Schirmer, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rothman, Mr. John Martin and Mario Marcon.

Former Woodstock Resident Featured In Scout Show

Mrs. David (Suzanne Taylor) Moore of Shawnee Mission, Kansas, formerly of Woodstock, and one of her sons, Gregory, 10, appeared as a feature attraction at the Girl Scouts' 50th anniversary celebration in Kansas City, Mo., April 29.

The Moores, billing themselves as "Moore and Moore and Co.," performed their ventriloquist act for the second time before huge audiences. Mrs. Moore and Gregory were one of the acts on the "Lutheran Hour" on Channel 5, CBS, representing the Redeemer Lutheran Church of Shawnee Mission, back in November.

Although a mother of three sons, Mrs. Moore has been an active Girl Scout leader for 11 years. For the past five years, she has performed her ventriloquist act with dummy, Rodney, for schools as well as for Boy Scout and Girl Scout groups. During the past two years, Gregory has joined her with his "Charley," or, if wigged, "Charlene."

The Moores are a Scouting family, with the exception of two year old Teddy. Mr. Moore, son of Mrs. Harold Moore of Lucas Avenue Extension, Kingston, has been active in Kansas Boy Scouting for several years. The eldest son, David II, is a Boy Scout; while Gregory is a Weeblo Scout who just received the Weeblo's highest honor.

Mrs. Moore is a graduate of the Woodstock Elementary School and attended Kingston High School. She is the daughter of Edith Taylor Melville, a former editor of the Woodstock Record Press, now a Shawnee Mission resident.

Mr. Moore is affiliated with Honeywell Information Systems of Kansas City, Mo.

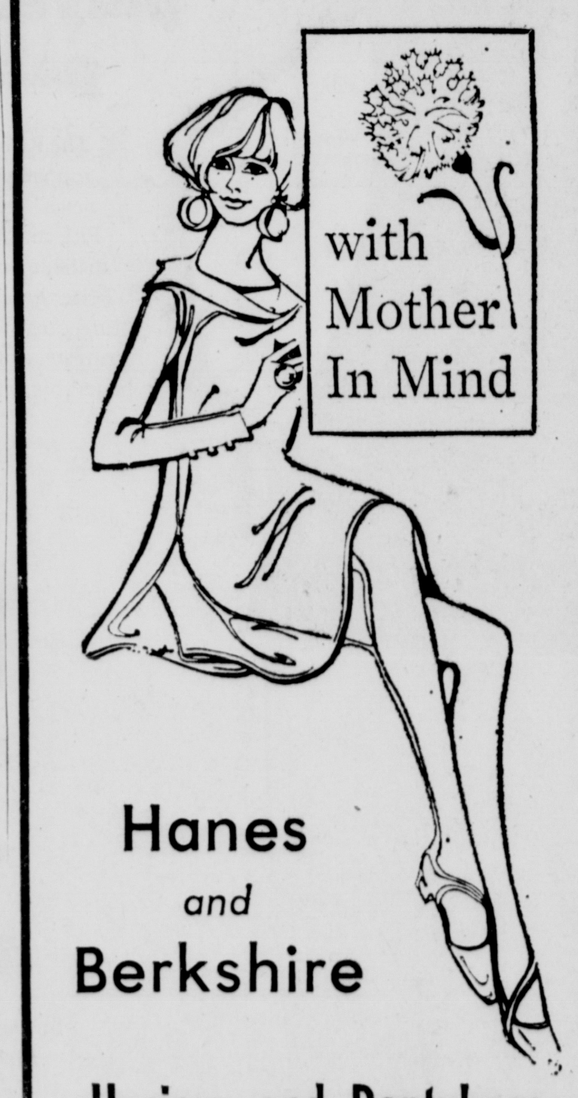

CHOIR OFFICERS — Cathy Snyder has been elected treasurer and Peter Millham named president of Kingston High School Choir. A concert by KHS Choir is scheduled for Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the KHS auditorium. Tickets may be purchased from any choir member or at the door. (Baczynsky photo)

LONG GONE — Philadelphia Phillies pitcher Steve Carlton looks away from home plate as Cincinnati's Johnny Bench rounds 2nd with his 2nd home run of the night in Philadelphia Wednesday night. Bench hit three homers and had 7 RBIs, as Reds won 9-7. (UPI)

Johnny Removed Some Doubts

By VITO STELLINO

Johnny Bench never had any doubts.

Even when he was hitting .178 last week, he wasn't worried that his lung surgery in the off-season had tarnished any of his great baseball skills.

"Maybe this will remove some doubts in other people's minds but I didn't have any doubts," Bench said Wednesday night after he hit three homers in the Cincinnati Reds' 9-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phils. Since he had homered in his last at bat Tuesday night, he tied the major league record with four homers in four consecutive at bats.

"I've always been a slow starter because I'm a warm weather hitter," he explained. "I feel like playing when I don't have trouble getting loose. When it's warm, I feel comfortable."

Manager Sparky Anderson agreed. "He's a streak hitter and when he gets on a steak like this, he just carries the club. He can carry a club for a couple of weeks by himself."

Bench finally ended his homer streak when he grounded out in the ninth inning.

Pete Rose, who had four singles and rode home all four times on homers (three times by Bench and once by Dave Concepcion), said, "I knew he was going to get his 35 homers just as sure as I knew the leaves would turn brown this winter."

It is true that Bench has always been a slow starter and the one year he did get off to a fast start (1971), he had his worst year.

But the Reds still must be relieved to have Bench prove there are no lingering effects from his off season surgery. Bench has had six hits in his last two games and in his last seven games, he's on a 13-for-30 surge—a .433 pace that has boosted his average from .178 to .252.

Bench now has nine homers and is leading the National League with 26 RBIs.

The three Bench homers drove in seven runs and all came off Steve Carlton. Back on July 27, 1970, Bench also hit three homers and drove in seven runs off Carlton.

"You feel good hitting three against Steve," Bench said. "But he's zipped me a lot of days. He did it just two weeks ago." Bench was 0-for-3 against Carlton on April 27.

Despite the Bench homers, Concepcion got the game winning blow when he tagged loser Barry Lersch for a two-run homer in the ninth to snap a 7-7 tie. Rose, who scored in front of him, quipped, "my hands are sore from patting guys on the back at the plate."

Even though he gave up the three homers, Manager Danny Ozark said that Carlton pitched well. "He made only one bad pitch on the first Bench homer," he said, "the others were good pitches and you can't blame a pitcher for that."

In the other National League games, New York routed Atlanta 8-1, St. Louis edged San Francisco 3-1, Chicago beat San Diego 9-2 and Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 8-5. The Houston at Montreal game was rained out.

Ken Reitz' first big league homer, a two-run blast in the sixth inning, boosted St. Louis past San Francisco. The win snapped a four-game Card losing streak. Reggie Cleveland went 8 2-3 innings for his second win and Diego Segui got the save.

Homers by Billy Williams, Randy Hundley and Rick Monday powered Chicago over San Diego. Burt Hooton pitched a six-hitter for the victory. Glenn Beckert stretched his hitting streak to 19 games.

Los Angeles picked up five runs on just two hits in the fifth inning to beat Pittsburgh. Willie Crawford's two-run double was the key hit of the rally that included three walks. Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson hit two-run homers for the losers.

Colborn Made Good on Second Chance

By FRED McMANE

Jim Colborn believes in making the most of a second chance.

Colborn, a 25-year-old right-hander for the Milwaukee Brewers, was given his first start since opening day Wednesday night and tossed a one-hitter at the Texas Rangers as Milwaukee posted a 5-1 victory.

Colborn had been banished to the bullpen after his disastrous opening day performance when he allowed Baltimore six runs in five innings, and he felt the stint as a reliever was very beneficial.

"It helps you to be in the bullpen. You learn how to pitch because when you come in you have to have it right away," Colborn said. "I knew I was gonna start this afternoon and I was so nervous today I couldn't believe it. I couldn't wait to get to the ballpark to relax."

Colborn made only one mistake in the game and it cost him both a no-hitter and a shutout. That came in the fifth inning when he grooved a fastball to Jeff Burroughs on a 3-1 pitch and the 22-year-old outfielder clobbered it for his fifth homer of the year.

"I had an idea of what to throw Burroughs, but it was the wrong one," admitted Colborn. "I had been throwing him a breaking pitch, and I assumed he was looking for it. But he wasn't. I threw him an inside fastball about waist high and he really hit it hard. I would like to have had that pitch back. I would rather have thrown a slider or different fastball. Or maybe some dipsy-doodle stuff."

In the only other American League games, Oakland edged Baltimore 4-3 in 10 innings, Detroit topped Kansas City 4-1, New York blanked Minnesota 2-0 and Cleveland trimmed California 10-3.

Dave May supported Colborn's pitching with a pair of home runs and designated hitter Bob Coluccio also homered as the Brewers tagged Dick Bosman with his fifth loss in sever decisions. May's homers give him seven for the season, only two less than he hit all last year.

Joe Rudi doubled home Bill North with the winning run in the 10th to give the A's a victory over the Orioles. North reached second base when third baseman Brooks Robinson fielded his grounder and threw wildly past first. He moved to third on a sacrifice and scored on Rudi's two-out smash off the right-centerfield fence.

Jim Hunter went 9 2-3 innings for the A's to get his third win in four decisions. Hunter was tagged for solo homers in the ninth by Al Bumbry and Rich Coggins.

Norm Cash sparked the Tigers' victory over the Royals with a single, homer and sacrifice fly as Detroit gained revenge against Steve Busby. Busby had no-hitted the Tigers only 12 days ago but Detroit jumped on him for four singles and a pair of runs in the second inning to tag him with his third loss in six decisions. Jim Perry worked eight innings for Detroit to post his fourth victory in six decisions.

A near free-for-all occurred in the seventh inning when both benches emptied onto the field following an exchange between Perry and Kansas City's Lou Piniella. Perry decked Piniella with a pitch and on his next delivery Piniella let his bat fly in the direction of the mound. Ike Brown raced to second base and broke Piniella's bat on the artificial turf while players milled around. No one was ejected.

Designated hitter Charlie Spikes and Buddy Bell each drove in three runs for Cleveland as the Indians spoiled Rudy May's bid for a fourth straight shutout. Spikes collected a two-run double during a four-run first inning and Bell had a two-run single in a four-run fifth.

Koosman Now 5-0

NEW YORK (AP) — For more than half the game, Jerry Koosman seemed on the way to achieving a feat which teammate Tom Seaver has four times come oh-so-close to reaching.

For 5 2-3 innings Wednesday night, Koosman, once again the left-handed ace of the New York Mets' mound staff, had a no-hitter going against Atlanta.

Then Oscar Brown broke the spell with a double to right field, just beyond the reach of lunging Rusty Staub. Koosman settled down to finish with a five-hit, 8-1 victory.

"Kooz" and Seaver were New York's 1-2 punch on the mound a few years back. During 1968-70, Koosman compiled a 48-28 record while Seaver, who has thrown four one-hitters but never achieved the ultimate, was 59-31.

Then, while Koosman, with recurring problems from a torn left shoulder muscle, sank to a total 17-23 the past two years, Seaver continued his brilliance with a composite 41-22.

This year, though, Seaver has been struggling, giving up home run balls at an almost alarming rate en route to a 3-3 record while Koosman is 5-0, the best percentage in the National League, with a stingy 1.79 earned-run average.

"I just hope I can keep pitching the way I'm pitching," he said after beating the Braves. "I think that working out a lot with weights last winter and the warmer spring in Florida helped me a great deal.

"I pitched with some fear but I got to rely on breaking stuff," the former flamethrower added. "You don't really feel you're not throwing hard until you start throwing hard again.

"I was thinking 'no-hitter' at that time," Koosman said of the moment Brown broke the spell. "It was a fastball over the outside. I didn't think he was going to get it...Every pitcher hopes somewhere along the line he's going to get a no-hitter." Koosman has had a pair of two-hitters in his major league career.

The Braves' second hit, Darrell Evans' double in the seventh, produced their only run.

The Mets took the lead in the first on Staub's run-scoring bouncer, made it 4-0 with a three-run second capped by Felix Millan's RBI single and added another a run in the third on a passed ball.

A home run by Staub gave the Mets a 6-0 bulge in the fifth, Koosman knocked in a run with a single in the sixth and Jim Gosger's sacrifice fly got New York's final run in the seventh.

Millan, acquired from Atlanta in the offseason, had a dismal start this year but, in the last eight games, has gone 16-for-39, including 8-for-15 in three games against the Braves.

"It's great," he said of his regained form. "And," he added with a grin, "I enjoy doing it against my former teammates."

Alou's Peg Just Perfect

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Sparky Lyle, ace reliever of the New York Yankees, picked up the official boxscore save in Wednesday night's game against the Minnesota Twins.

But as an amused Ralph Houk pointed out to Lyle after the game, the man who made the key "save" won't appear in the pitching summaries.

"What did you do?" Houk asked Lyle after he faced six men and retired them all, saving Fritz Peterson's 2-0 victory over the Twins. 'There's the man who made the big throw over there."

Houk was referring to Yankee right fielder Matty Alou, whose perfect peg home in the seventh inning cut down Danny Thompson trying to score from second on a single with two out.

Peterson, improving his record to 3-4, was totally surprised by the game's big defensive play.

"At first I didn't even think Thompson would try to score," said Peterson. "I thought he'd hold up, so I didn't even back up the play. It was a lucky break I didn't have to."

The ball arrived with one hop in catcher Thurman Munson's mitt. Thompson slammed into Munson, but the Yankee catcher held the ball, snuffing out a potential big inning.

"Alou is doing a heck of a defensive job in the outfield," said Houk. "He's made three or four crucial throws for us this year. He's thrown guys out at second on hits down the line. He's not only great in the outfied, but he's hitting better than .300. He's one of the better players in baseball."

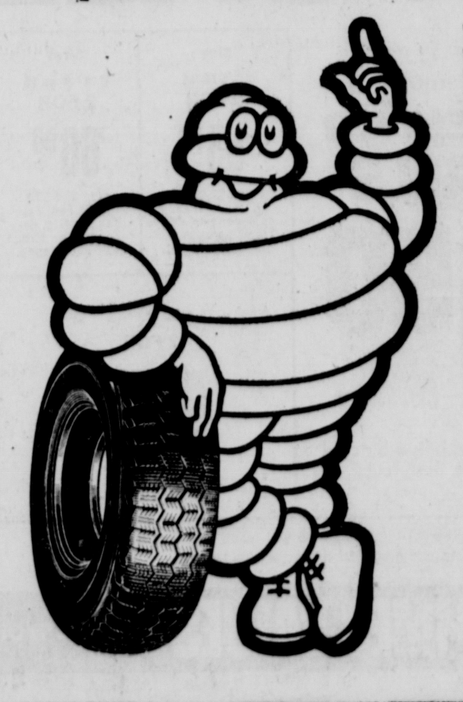

Alou was nonchalant about the hero's role.

"I wasn't surprised he tried to score," said Alou, obtained in an off-season trade with Oakland. "I knew I had a chance to get him. The ball was moving toward me pretty fast."

Peterson left the game after giving up his ninth hit — a double to Larry Hisle with none out in the eighth.

Pro Hockey Not Beautiful to American Blacks

NEW YORK (AP) — Black is not so beautiful in professional hockey.

Racism helped keep black athletes out of sports in general until after World War II, but eventually barriers came down.

Blacks succeeded in such establishment sports as baseball and football, although no black has ever won a permanent starting quarterback spot on a National Football League club.

In Canadian football there have been a couple of black quarterbacks—Sandy Stephens in the 1960s and last year's rookie of the year in the Canadian Football League, Chuck Ealey of Hamilton Tigercats.

Such is not the case in hockey, a sport American blacks still know little about and generally pass up for other sports in which they excel.

Only eight per cent of the 22 million black people in the United States follow hockey, says a poll conducted by Louis Harris. But 25 per cent of the white population can be classed as hockey fans.

Harris says one of the major reasons for black spectator apathy in hockey is the lack of top black pros. The National Hockey League has no black players. The rival World Hockey Association has one.

In comparison, the membership of the pro National Basketball Association is about 63 per cent black. Pro football and baseball rosters are well larded with black stars.

The hockey pickings are lean because black Americans do not grow up on ice skates.

If black Americans do skate, they are more inclined to use rollers instead of blades. Roller skating is growing in popularity as more public rinks open in black city areas, and roller hockey is a popular street game.

Alton White is the only black player in the WHA. Although he represents a milestone in pro ranks, White is quick to disclaim suggestions that he might turn out to be the Jackie Robinson of hockey.

White says he's not in a class with Robinson, the baseball player's ordeal was much tougher, and times have changed since Robinson broke in.

"I've had little trouble because of my skin color," White said.

Oddly, without black players the NHL is outdrawing pro basketball in all but two U.S. cities—New York and Los Angeles—where basketball and hockey coexist.

Some fans suggest white sports draw white crowds, and there are more and richer whites than blacks.

The Harris Poll says hockey fans are to be found in the United States in great numbers in the East and Midwest, among suburban residents, the under-30 group, those with a college education, and among those with incomes of $10,000 to $15,000.

762 in ABC Singles

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Ed Thompson, 27, of Denver, Colo. bowled a 762 in regular division singles Wednesday to notch the fourth best series in the 70 years' history of regular division play in the American Bowling Congress.

Sharing the spotlight Wednesday with Thompson, who managed his 762 on games of 256, 279 and 227, was Al Cohn of Chicago, Ill.

Cohn bowled a 711 in singles, 749 in doubles and 2,060 in all-events, all in regular divisions. These scores put Cohn into seventh in singles, second in all-events and fourth, with partner Gordy Baer of Chicago, in doubles.

Rick Eckert of Longview, Tex., took sixth in regular division singles with a 712.

Fourth place in the regular team standings was taken Tuesday night by Skyway Lanes of Chicago with a 3,075 total including game totals of 979, 1,086 and 1,010. Joe Trombetta led with a 688 triple on games of 216, 279 and 193. He began his second game with an open frame and followed with 11 strikes.

In the classic division, Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill., moved into third place in singles with a 695 and Les Zikes of Chicago took fifth with a 677.

A pair from Tokyo, Japan—Yoshito Tagawa and Tsuno Suzuke—placed fifth in classic doubles with 1,266, while their countryman Takiyuki Ryu, was ninth in classic all-events. He managed a 1,892 for nine games.

New Twist in That LL Rhubarb

YPSILANTI, Mich. (UPI) — City Manager Peter Caputo Wednesday barred the Little League from using any of the city's baseball diamonds until it agrees to allow a 12-year-old girl to play in competition.

The action was a direct challenge to the Little League's national headquarters in Williamsport, Pa., which threatened to kick Ypsilanti out of the league if the girl was allowed to play.

Caputo issued a memo barring the Ypsilanti Little League from using any of the community's park facilities until its discriminatory practices are stopped.

The local league decided under pressure Tuesday to take away 12-year-old Carolyn King's uniform. Its vice president, Bob Taylor, said the organization had to kick the girl off the team or forfeit its charter with the Little League.

National officers said Miss Kings' inclusion on the Ypsilanti team —despite her "exceptional" centerfielding —was in violation of Regulation 4, Paragraph 1 which states pointedly: "Girls are not eligible."

Caputo said no one in the league —girl or boy —would use the community's public baseball diamonds until the national finds a place for girls in the Little League.

"The City of Ypsilanti parks are for the use of all members of the community," Caputo said. "In good conscience, the City of Ypsilanti cannot offer the use of municipal facilities to organizations that practice any form of discrimination."

"Therefore until the matter involving Miss Carolyn King and other female children who wish to take part in local sports activities is resolved, the City of Ypsilanti parks and baseball diamonds are not available to the Little League baseball clubs."

A spokesman from Caputo's office said the memo was not an affront on the local league, but a measure to pressure the national office into changing Regulation 4, Paragraph 1.

"This is not aimed at the local Little League," the spokesman said. "They've done their best to keep Carolyn on the team."

OCS Girls Track Varsity Sweeps KHS and Lourdes

KINGSTON — Onteora High School's girls varsity track squad swept a triangular meet, defeating Kingston 55-44 and Our Lady of Lourdes 53-42. Lourdes prevailed over Kingston 58-37.

Linda Econom of the defending DCSL champions set a new conference record with a toss of 84 feet 7 nches in the discus event. The previous record was 81 feet, one and three-quarter inches.

Cathy Corning of Lourdes registered a triple in the high jump, long jump and 100-yard dash. Cindy Dugroo gave OCS a double in the 440 and 800 yard runs.

Rod Laver, Smith Win

DALLAS (UPI) — Big Stan Smith used a booming serve and his magnificent range to demolish John Alexander 6-4, 6-2, 6-1 Wednesday night and set up a semifinals match with Rod Laver in the World Championship Tennis Tournament.

Laver won the opening quarterfinal match of the tournament earlier in the evening by disposing of Roy Emerson in just under two hours, 7-5, 6-2, 7-5.

The other two quarterfinal matches — Arthur Ashe vs. Marty Riessen and Ken Rosewall vs. Roger Taylor—will be held tonight.

Smith, the dominant force in professional tennis in winning six of the 11 WCT events this season, broke Alexander's serve in the opening game of every set.

The turning points seemed to come in the very first game of the match when Alexander double faulted twice and became obviously upset at suspicious line calls. The call which upset him the most came at game point of the first set.

Alexander's second serve seemed to catch the outside line but was called out, and even Smith gave a long look at the linesman. Alexander broke Smith's serve in the fourth game for his high point in the match, but was immediately broken himself. His game faltered from that point.

Can The Lakers Make It Back?

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Can the defending NBA champion Los Angeles Lakers come back from a 3-1 deficit?

No team in the 27-year history of the league ever has and the New York Knicks, a team with the fourth best NBA regular season record, seek to apply the clincher in the championship series tonight.

"There's always a first time," said a hobbled Jerry West, who played in Tuesday night's 103-98 Lakers defeat at New York.

"We could be the first team to make it back from this far. But it's hard to beat a good team three times in a row."

The Lakers took out the Knicks in five games in last year's finals after, ironically, losing the series opener. New York was beaten in the opener this year 115-112 but bounced back to take three straight.

The Knicks won 99-95 and 87-83 in games No. 2 and 3.

Despite the Knicks' big edge, the Lakers players think they can come back to win back-to-back titles. Or at least that's what they're saying.

"It's not over yet," said starting forward Bill Bridges. "We can win at home and win one at New York."

"We had a chance to win all previous four games," added Wilt Chamberlain.

Said Gail Goodrich: "It's not through. We've been good in spots but just not consistent. We've got to create our own breaks more."

If the Knicks win tonight, it will be their second championship ever, both in the space of only four years. They took the title in seven games in 1970 from the Lakers.

However, Dave DeBusschere, who poured in 33 points in New York's third victory, was still wary.

"I'm not at all confident," he said. "I don't like to get overconfident in a situation like this. Anything can happen. That's (the Lakers) a great team. Of course, I'd rather be 3-1 than 1-3 and so would they but I won't be happy until we win the fourth one."

Russians Capture Last Battle in Baltimore

ERNIE'S DEUCE — Joak Salumets (5) of the Russian National Basketball team can't seem to get his feet off the deck, as USA's Ernie DiGregorio of Providence, R. I., puts one by him for two. Russians won game to end series 4-2 in favor of the U. S. (UPI)

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The traveling basketball series between the U.S. and Russia wound up Wednesday night before a packed crowd in a brawling muscle match much like the other five games.

Nine players fouled out and another was thrown out. Several players suffered bloody noses, cuts and scratches as the international rules under which the series was played allowed a much more violent game than the Americans normally play.

The U.S. won the series four games to two but dropped Wednesday night's game, 72-64, in what Coach Bob Cousy called the "worst game we've played in the series."

The Americans shot only 32 per cent from the floor and were edged in rebounds by a deceptive 34 to 31 margin. The aggressive Russians seemed to dominate the boards most of the night.

The only statistical edge the Americans had was in the number of turnovers, 15 to 25 for the U.S.S.R.

The Russians ran up a 55-42 lead in the third quarter but Ernie DiGregorio, the game's high scorer with 21 points, sparked an American rally that had closed the gap to 69-62 when the Providence guard fouled out.

"By far this was the worst of our six games," Cousy said after the game. "This is the first time I thought we played bad. Maybe I should say they outbattled us.

"They worked defense tougher tonight, which is what won four games, almost five, for us," he said. "The New York game (won by the Americans in overtime Monday) was such an emotional game it took a lot out of us."

Cousy said he wouldn't play in another series with a European game unless half the games were played under NCAA rules.

"In the Olympics you don't have any choice but I wouldn't do it again in a series. Unless we send our best team to the next Olympics they'll beat us again because of their familiarity with the international rules," he said.

Cousy and DiGregorio praised the Russians and seemed to accept the brawling between the teams as part of the game.

Cousy said the U.S.S.R. team "is a good solid team. It's capable of beating any amateur or college team in the U.S. under international rules."

"I was really impressed with the way they played," DiGregorio said. "I'm very glad it's over. I'm glad I didn't get hurt."

Maryland's tough Len Elmore, who didn't join the U.S. team until after the series started, said he gave Russian star Alexander Belov a bloody nose.

"My hand ran into his nose and he tripped me to get back at me but he got caught and it was his fifth foul and he was out of the game," he said.

Six-Team Soccer Loop for UCAL

KINGSTON — Bill DuBois, in charge of athletics at Coleman High today hailed the formation of an Ulster County Athletic League soccer league as "very forward thinking."

The six-team circuit will begin competition in September, according to a Wednesday announcement by UCAL secretary Jim McIntyre of Pine Bush.

Under plans outlined by McIntyre, the new circuit will combine three former members of the now defunct DUSO Soccer League—New Paltz, Rondout Valley and Fallsburgh, with Onteora, Coleman and Pine Bush of the regular UCAL.

Pine Bush competed on the junior varsity level last season.

Coleman has completed five seasons as a soccer independent, but interest in the sport at the school is "enthusiastic," said Coach DuBois. "The kids really enjoy it and I think the move to form a regular league represents very forward thinking."

"Getting a soccer schedule together as an independent is not that easy," DuBois explained. "The formal league setup will now relieve us of that big headache."

"Soccer is the coming sport," said DuBois, "juding by the large number of candidates that come out for the team each year. It's a highly competitive sport that American kids are reallly just beginning to discover."

"I think it's a great move," said Coach Don Hauck of Pine Bush. "The sport doesn't seem to take away from existing spring sports. It's a fast, exciting game and it just creates one more opportunity for Ulster County athletes."

The only negative reaction to the move came from Newburgh Free Academy, an independent in everything since the foldup of the old DUSO League.

With Monticeello, the last remaining DUSO member, moving into the Orange County League, the Goldbacks were left as the only tri-county area team without league affiliation in soccer.

Stan Hemingway, Newburgh AD, described the move as "regrettable" from the NFA point of view. He said there had been some discussion last year when Fallsburg was admitted to the UCAL that Newburgh might be invited to compete in the soccer league this upcoming year. But nothing ever came of it.

New '500' Engines

By JERRY GARRETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sixty-one of the 83 cars entered in this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race are powered by tiny four-cylinder engines smaller than the power plants in many compact passenger cars.

But these sophisticated Offenhauser engines, which also have carried the Miller and Mayer & Drake mark for half a century, have been refined in the laboratory of auto racing.

Herb Porter, an engineering consultant for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., says the Offy engine is the most powerful, inch for inch, in history. Porter conducts the company's tire and engine testing on a fulltime basis.

But Porter, sometimes referred to as the father of the modern Offenhauser engine, notes the basic engine is not all that powerful.

In a 1,500-pound race car, the four-cylinder, 160-cubic-inch engine could only manage about 125 miles an hour, Porter said. Horsepower would be near 200.

But throw on a supercharger and a fuel injection system, and instantly you have about 800 horsepower and the potential to register a 200-mile-an-hour lap, he said.

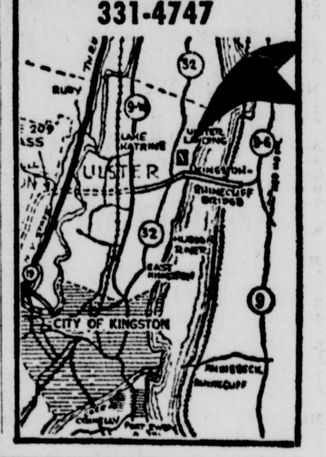

Swede Savage, running with one of Porter's engines, has turned in a 197.802 lap, the fastest so far this month at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Savage recorded a 192.5 lap in practice Wednesday for the May 28 race.

"We get about five horsepower per cubic inch," Porter said. "If you've got that kind of horsepower out of your average passenger car with a 327 cubic inch engine, you would have about 1,600 horsepower. We get more horsepower per cubic inch now than any other car in the history of the world.

"While we could still get a lot more power, it would be a less reliable engine. More power is available for this year's race than last year's with a greater degree or reliability."

Little League Rules

KINGSTON — The following rules will apply for the publication of Little League baseball results this season.

1) Scores must be reported on scoresheets provided by The Daily Freeman. Names must be legible, preferably in black or blue pen.

2) The boxscore should show the following items: Name of league, teams, park and lineups, listing full name of all players and positions (not numbers) viz. lf, 1b, p etc.

3) Totals should be added and boxscore runs should equal runs in score by innings. Bases on balls and strikeouts must be listed by name of pitchers, not teams. Indicate winning and losing pitchers. Full names not necessary in summary.

4) Game notes should be written on back of the official scoresheet.

Lobell Wins, Bang Bang 3rd At Monticello

MONTICELLO

Fourth on the rim and moving at the half, Adelaide Lobell gained the lead around the final turn and scored a length win over Grateful Add, with Jack Ferraro's Bang Bang Rainbow another length back in Monticello Raceway's featured pace Wednesday night.

Driven by Eldon Harner to a 2:06.2 mile, the four-year-old Overtrick mare returned $4.80, $3.20 and $3.00.

It was the triumph of the season for Adelaide Lobell in two starts. And along the way it snapped a three-win skein by Torpid Time, a three-year-old Torpid colt who gained the lead approaching the three-quarter pole, but faded to sixth at the wire.

The 3-3 daily double was a respectable $180.00.

Genes Miss, driven by George Gilmour, won the opener with a $25.40 payoff. The second race went to Piedmont Express, driven by Louis Ferriero to an $18.60 parimutuel.

In other New York State harness racing Wednesday night, muddy tracks slowed down the horses at Saratoga Harness and Vernon Downs.

At Saratoga, Frosty Lass, driven by Jean Paul Morel, caught Luscious Newport at the wire in the $3,000 featured trot and registered an 2:08 3-5 mile.

Toddler's Trump was the show horse. The winner paid $12.

The winner at Vernon Downs in the $1,400 pace, Seaway Sarina, battled the mud to a 2:08 2-5 timing and a three-quarter length win over Adios Willa. Lady Tar was third.

Garland Garnsey guided the winner to a $16.80 return.

In the featured $1,500 pace at Buffalo Raceway, Silent Front led all the way and won by one and a quarter lengths over Admiral Mark. Follow Pro was the show horse.

The winner, driven by Dick Welch, covered the mile in 2:06 4-5 and returned $4.20.

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION
In the Matter of the Application of ROLLING MEADOWS WATER CORP. Water Supply Application No. 6277

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to Section 15-1503 of the Environmental Conservation Law, the Department of Environmental Conservation will cause a public hearing to be held in the Hurley Town Hall on the 23rd day of May, 1973, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day for the purpose of hearing all persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations or other civil divisions of the State of New York that may be affected by the execution of the plans of the Rolling Meadows Water Corp. for the acquisition and future operation of the existing interconnected facilities of the Elmendorf Water Co., located in the Town of Hurley, Ulster County, and for the continued supply of water from the present sources of the two systems, plans for which have been filed with the Department of Environmental Conservation at its offices in Albany and in New Paltz, New York, where the same are open for public inspection; and for the purpose of determining whether said plans are justified by public necessity, whether they provide for the proper and safe construction of all work connected therewith, whether they provide for the proper protection of the supply and watershed from contamination or provide for the proper treatment of such additional supply, whether they are just and equitable to the other municipalities affected thereby and to the inhabitants thereof, particular consideration being given to their present and future necessities for sources of water supply, and whether they make fair and equitable provisions for the determination and payment of any and all legal damages to persons and property, both direct and indirect, which will result from the execution of the plans or the acquiring of such lands.

All persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations or other civil divisions of the State of New York, other than the applicant, who have objections to the execution of said plans or wish to be heard either in favor of or opposed to such plans, in order to be heard thereon, must file a notice of such desire to be heard in writing and in duplicate in the office of the Department of Environmental Conservation, Bureau of Water Regulation, Albany, New York 12201, on or before the 14th day of May, 1973. Any objections so filed must particularly specify the grounds thereof.

In the event that no notice of appearance in opposition to the proposed project is filed within the time specified, the Department is authorized by statute to dispense with the Public Hearing; and to proceed to consider and examine the petition, maps, plans, proofs and arguments submitted in support of the proposed project, and thereafter to make the determinations and decision as required by statute. If the hearing is dispensed with, due and timely notice thereof will be given only to the applicant and to any person who has filed a notice of appearance.

FAMILY COURT of the
STATE OF NEW YORK
COUNTY OF ULSTER

In the Matter of
EARL GARY QUICK
(AKA CARL GARY QUICK)
A Child under the Age of Eighteen years alleged to be a Permanently Neglected Child.

Docket No. B-6-73
SUMMONS

IN THE NAME OF THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK
TO Harold Quick, address unknown

A petition having been filed in this Court, alleging that the above named child in the care of Ulster County Dept. of Social Services the Petitioner, is a permanently neglected child as defined by Article 6, Part 1 of the Family Court Act; a copy of said Petition being annexed hereto;

You are hereby summoned to appear before this Court at County Office Building, 244 Fair Street, Kingston, New York, on Tuesday, June 19, 1973 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day to show cause why the Court should not enter an order depriving you of all the rights of custody of said child and awarding custody of said child to the petitioning authorized agency as a permanently neglected child as provided by law.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that if said child is adjudged to be a permanently neglected child and if custody is awarded to said authorized agency, said child may be adopted with the consent of said authorized agency, without further notice to you.

In the event of your default, the Court will hear and determine the petition, as provided by law.

Dated: May 1, 1973.

PRESENT:
HON. HUGH R. ELWYN, Judge

In the Matter of
EARL GARY QUICK
(AKA CARL GARY QUICK)
A child under the Age of Eighteen Years, alleged to be a Permanently Neglected Child.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
Docket No. B-6-73

A Petition under Article 6, Part 1 of the Family Court Act having been duly filed in this Court by the Ulster County Department of Social Services, an authorized Agency, alleging that the above child in the care of said Petitioner, by its sworn petition with attached exhibits, having furnished proof to my satisfaction that the place or places of residence of Harold Quick, one of the persons interested in this proceeding or concerning whom the Court is required to have information upon this proceeding is unknown and cannot, after diligent inquiry be ascertained and that personal service of the Summons in this proceeding cannot with due diligence be made upon said person within the State; and the Court having given due consideration thereto; now therefore it is ORDERED that service of the summons herein upon Harold Quick be made by publication thereof in one newspaper, to wit: in The Daily Freeman, published in the County of Ulster, once in each of four successive weeks;

AND the Court being satisfied by said Petition and exhibits attached thereto that the Petitioner cannot with reasonable diligence, ascertain a place or places where the said Harold Quick would probably receive matter transmitted through the United States Postal Service;

IT IS ORDERED that the mailing of said summons and copy of this Order be and they hereby are dispensed with.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE

On April 12, 1973 Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York an amendment to rate schedule P.S.C. No. 14 —Electricity providing that effective May 15, 1973 contributions for underground electric line extensions in new residential subdivisions will be based on a cost of $4.98 per foot of trench required for such lines. Said cost will be applicable to all such extensions contracted for after May 15, 1973.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN GAS RATE SCHEDULE

On April 12, 1973 Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York revisions to gas rate schedule, P.S.C. No. 11 —Gas, to become effective May 30, 1973. Said revisions propose a change in the Purchased Gas Cost Adjustment Clause whereby (a) rates stated in Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5 would be subject to increase or decrease at the rate of 0.0108 rather than the present rate of 0.0107 cents per 100 cubic feet for each change of 0.01 cent per 100 cubic feet from a base commodity cost of purchased gas of 3.016 cents per 100 cubic feet and (b) rates stated in Service Classification Nos. 1 and 2 would be subject to increase or decrease at the rate of 0.0108 rather than the present rate of 0.0107 cents per 100 cubic feet for each change of 0.01 cents per 100 cubic feet from a base cost of purchased gas of 6.178 cents per 100 cubic feet computed after excluding volumes and costs of gas purchased for sale under Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5 and purchased for electric generating fuel.

EMPLOYMENT

ATTENTION JOB APPLICANTS
The Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted ads from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than the legal minimum wage or fail to pay at least time and one-half for overtime hours. The minimum wage for employment covered by the FISA prior to the 1966 Amendments is $1.85 an hour with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. Jobs covered as a result of the 1966 Amendments require $1.80 an hour minimum with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. For specific information contact the Wage and Hour Office of the U. S. Department of Labor, 231 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452, WYandotte 3-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

Friday, May 11

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Early morning delays soon change. An influential person you know gives you the benefit of his support. Even though you have some small annoyances, the overall aspects of today's influences are broad in their scope so you can are able to make some long-time excellent changes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get busy with work at hand and don't go off on tangents if you want good results. Try to gain the goodwill of a co-worker. Avoid one who has a chip on the shoulder. Think.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study and arrange creative ideas well in a.m., and you can be successful. The door of opportunity is opened for you by one you know. The morning starts slowly, but by evening all speeds up.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study family affairs and see where you can improve them. Appliances need repairing or replacement, so handle them carefully. Get free of tensions that have been bothering you for some time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Consulting with others is best after lunch, when you can put your plans in good working order. Every opportunity is yours for being more productive. Give your attention to your work exclusively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get those money matters working properly, but have to study all details connected with them. A business expert is not in good humor. Avoid this person now. Contact another time.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept. 22) Plan the future more wisely so you have more of the things you want. Don't let some small loss disappoint you. Improve your appearance in some way and feel more sure of yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Quietly get into talks with experts who can give you the information you need to solve your problems. Then you can proceed in a positive way. Listen to what the romantic attachment has to suggest for more harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan just how to get the cooperation of allies for some fascinating project you have in mind. Get into that group affair later that can be both enjoyable and helpful to your interests. Don't go to bed too late.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Some new course should be followed if you are to make your career more successful. Be sure to get the backing of a bigwig. Not a good day to take action, but fine for involving yourself in some public matter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) New ideas are fine, but make sure you put them in motion at the right time and at the right place, and with the proper persons. Be more alert to what your goals really are. Make sure they are just what you want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have some long-time responsibilties and need some new system to get them handled properly. Try to please mate more in p.m. Avoid some situation that could get you into trouble later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Discuss with associates questionable points. Get down to the policy level and make the future more profitable and worthwhile. Differences of opinion now can prove to be good, since you learn much. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be one of those little fussbudgets who wants everything around super-perfect, but should be taught early to make allowances for human error and to stick to the important, big things of life. Otherwise your child will have a poor and ineffectual life instead of a successful one. Send to schools best suited to the mentality of your youngster. Don't try to push into doing whatever is against the nature. Religion is important here.

"The stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

POSSESSIVE: (Q.) I am a girl, 19. I have six sisters younger than I. Our father is very jealous of us. My boy friend and I are engaged and plan to be married next year. We have been going out for three years, and my father still won't talk to him.

One of my sisters is 18 and one is 16½. They have a rougher time than I do. They have to sneak out to have dates. My mother knows about it. She tries to talk to my father about boy friends and dates, but he won't listen.

Please print this so he can read it.—Overprotected in Maine.

(A.) When a girl is small her father is usually fiercely protective of her. This is good, because she needs protection. She knows this, and holds closely to her father's hand.

As she grows older, she learns to protect herself. This is good. It is one sign of maturity.

When a father hangs on to a daughter too long, when he is protective and protective to the point that he interferes with her social and emotional development, an unhealthy situation develops.

The girl has trouble breaking away from him both physically and emotionally. But she has to, or she cannot be mature, free, and ready for married love in all its fullness.

A father should turn a daughter loose, willingly, when the time comes. And the daughter should turn her father loose. This does not mean they must not continue to love each other. It means they must stop holding on to each other.

Your father holds on. In doing so he hurts himself and his daughters too.

COUSIN: (Q.) My cousin does not have a mother. She lives with my parents and me. She has been living with us a year. She shares a room with me.

I do all the work of cleaning the whole room myself. I make her bed and my bed. I pick things up and put them away. It's her room as well as mine. Why can't she help keep it clean?—Overworked in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Have you told your cousin that it is her room as well as yours? And if you have told her, did you really mean it when you said it?

She has been through trouble. In all likelihood, she does not look upon your home as her home, and your room as her room. She may feel like an intruder.

Talk to her. Open your arms and your heart to her. Tell her it is time now that she stops being a "visitor" and turn into the welcome and sharing roommate that she is.

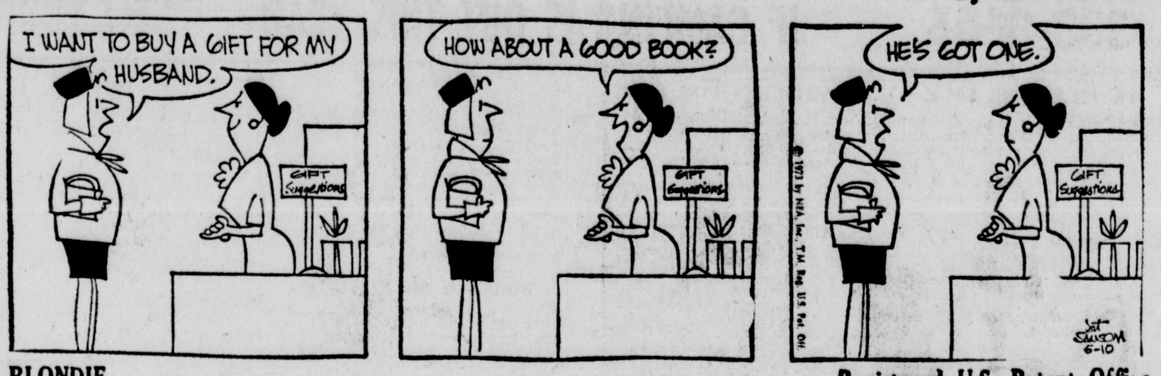

Then share with her your joys and your sorrows as well as your chores. I believe she will love this new management.

Script Leads to TV Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Hemmer, 29, is barely old enough to recall the glory days of radio when "The Lone Ranger" rode the aural range and "The Green Hornet" buzzed about on behalf of law and order.

But Hemmer, program director of radio station WDBQ-AM in Dubuque, Iowa, recently brought back the fun of the old days by broadcasting five shows written and submitted by listeners.

The authors were an artist at a local advertising agency, two high school teachers, a deputy sheriff and a 21-year-old female factory worker.

Hemmer got the scripts by unwittingly repeating radio history. The repeating occurred last January when WDBQ ran a "Radio Theater" contest inviting listeners to submit original half-hour scripts.

It's exactly the way many prominent writers today first were heard nationally, thanks to "Dr. Christian," a radio series broadcast several decades ago. It also asked listeners to submit original scripts.

One of those budding authors, Earl Hemner Jr., earned $500 for a script he sent in. He's better-known and earns considerably more today as creator of "The Waltons" series on CBS-TV.

Hemner, who says he never heard of the "Dr. Christian" series, laughed when asked how he came upon the idea of WDBQ's script search.

"I couldn't tell you," he said. "I've always been fascinated with old-time radio. A couple of years ago I thought, 'gee, wouldn't it be fun if we could do something like this.' And we finally did it."

He said the "Radio Theater" contest brought a total of 52 original scripts from the listening audience. He and his staff read them all, selected five for broadcast and went to work, using the station's disc jockeys and local residents as actors in the shows.

"There were no rewrites," he said. "We did them exactly the way they were written. Of course, we added sound effects and music."

The shows, broadcast during the last week in March, ranged from "Bill Bugoni, Private Eye" — a spoof of the old "Sam Spade" series" — to "The Second Chance," a show about a man whom the fates allow to return to his past.

The final show, "Red Lights and Sirens," was written by the deputy sheriff.

While the series was broadcast, listeners were invited to vote by mail on their favorite show. The authors got cash prizes ranging from $10 to the $100 award given the author of "Second Chance," which received the largest share of the 800 votes cast.

Hemmer, whose station has only 1,000 watts and limited funds for such efforts, says he's going to have another "Radio Theater" week in September and start calling for authors in mid-July.

He says he's still amazed by the response to the first contest.

"It was an absolute 100 per cent success and a lot of fun, to boot."

Opening lead—♥ 10

Forty years ago Ted Lightner of New York was one of the five or six best players in the world. He still plays rubber bridge regularly and in our opinion is now the best octogenarian player anywhere.

Through the years his game has been characterized by soundness rather than brilliance, but once in a while he comes up with a real barnburner play.

He hit on the happy choice of the nine of clubs opening against South's four-spade contract. East promptly collected three club tricks and it was up to Ted to discard on the third one.

He thought quite a while and finally got rid of his ace of hearts.

East looked surprised. A kibitzer almost fell off his chair. Dummy laughed uproariously, but declarer was strangely silent. He knew what was coming and he knew his contract was doomed.

Sure enough, East led a fourth club and Lightner's queen of trumps was the setting trick.

Was his play a lucky guess? Not at all. He was sure to beat the contract this way. He wasn't sure any other way.

Ex-Congressman Fish to Touch All Bases

POUGHKEEPSIE — Former Congressman Hamilton Fish Sr., who is being feted Monday by a host of friends, many prominent in the sports, entertainment, and political arenas, will take the occasion to speak out on a number of issues ranging from Watergate to defense to Jane Fonda.

The testimonial to Fish will take place at the Elks Club in Poughkeepsie.

Speaking about the occasion, Fish said that "although the honor is entirely unsolicited, I am grateful to them (friends) and will speak out in some detail on the Watergate folly as I believe in a house cleaning as much as I did 40 years ago during the Teapot Dome scandal.

"I will speak briefly on Dutchess County during the Revolutionary War and its destiny in the near future, including a more rapid railroad service between New York, Poughkeepsie and Albany.

"I propose to emphasize the necessity of providing for the security of all the American people by having an adequate defense against a foreign nuclear first strike which would destroy half of our people overnight and the abolition of all nuclear weapons," Fish said.

"I hope I will offend no one by expressing my bitter condemnation of Miss Jane Fonda for calling our heroic American prisoners who were tortured by the Communists in North Vietnam, liars and hypocrits.

"I have been asked the title of my remarks. It will be "Have Faith in America" — it belongs to you — Republicans, Democrats and Independents and to all free men and women in the United States."

Fish said that among those he has invited who have accepted are Lowell Thomas, Edwin B. Dooley, Chairman State Athletic Commission; William E. Doulin, member of Athletic Commission, Maj. Gen. Robert E. Condon, Congressman Benjamin Gilman; Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr.; Richard Brady, Assistant Secretary of State; State Sen. Richard Schermerhorn; Ulster County Republican Chairman Albert Spada, and Jimmy Jemail of the New York News.

HUD Freeze Being Reviewed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. (R-25th Dist.) today announced that the current freeze on federally supported low and moderate income housing in at least four instances in the 25th Congressional District is undergoing review within the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

According to Fish, the announcement by HUD does not mean that the projects will be funded, but "at least the projects which were withdrawn back in January when the President called an 18-month freeze on all federal interest support housing, will now be processed.

Fish stated he has been notified by HUD that the following programs are undergoing review and are once again in the processing stream: in Poughkeepsie, the 156-unit Dutchess Senior Citizens Housing Project and the 119 unit Admiral Halsey Project; in Kingston, the 100-unit Wiltwyck Gardens Senior Citizens Extension and in Peekskill, a 168-unit project located within the core area of the city.

"This loosening of the freeze to allow project evaluation and analysis is a very encouraging sign, and I trust congressional and public pressures on the administration were at least responsible for this partial relaxation," he said.

Fish received no indication from HUD as to what would happen when the project processing was complete, "but it is my hope there will be a further relaxing of the current total fund freeze on housing," Fish said.

Two Viet Proposals Listed by Robison

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Two bills which commemorate the efforts of Americans who serve in Vietnam have been introduced by Congressman Howard Robison (R-27th Dist.).

The bills would establish "Vietnam Veterans Day" and allow a double retirement credit for the period during which the POW's were held in captivity.

Robison said the intent of the two measures is important to the new spirit of reconciliation which "must come as we disengage from hostilities in Indochina.

"Reconciliation is a two-way street," Robison stated, "and those who answered their government's call to serve in Vietnam, particularly those who suffered or died ir performing their duty, deserve the respect of every citizen, no matter what his or her attitude toward the war."

The nine-term legislator commented: "Some of my constituents have been quick to type-cast me, after hearing of my statements to the House of Representatives on amnesty. I have always responded by asking them to read those statements carefully," Robison said, "so that they realize that it is reconciliation, not amnesty, which is the predominent theme. The two bills which I have co-sponsored to commemorate the deeds and sacrifices of Americans who served in Vietnam emphasize the elasticity of the word, 'reconciliation.' If we are successful in renewing the social and cultural bonds between all Americans during the post-Indochinese war period, it will be because both sides of a divided America looked with respect and generosity to the common bonds which they share."

One of the Robison-sponsored bills would authorize the President to proclaim a "Vietnam Veterans Day" and to invite and encourage the citizens of the United States to observe the new holiday with appropriate ceremonies and activities. The second proposal would give double retirement credits to all Americans, civilian or military, who were POW's or MIA's during the Vietnam conflict. According to Robison, a man who spent four years as a prisoner would receive a total of eight years toward retirement time. Robison added that the credit would be optional, so that no one could be forced to retire early as a result.

Bell's Bill Introduced

Under provisions of a bill introduced by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-101st Dist.) and passed in the Assembly, the Town of Kingston would be allowed to change the term of office for some elected officials.

The measure would set the term of one of the two town councilmen at four years, the other at two. It also provides that one town justice be elected to a four-year term.

The town board would be allowed to affect the changes in time for this year's balloting by adopting a resolution at least 90 days prior to the general election to be held in November. Thereafter, at each town election, held every two years, one councilman and one justice would be elected to four year terms.

Bell said the legislation was requested by the Town of Kingston Town Board and will provide for continuity in administration of the town's affairs.
